WHO WAS CHRISTIAN GETZENDANNER OF JEFFERSON COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI?

In 1964, Edna Schulz of Washington, D.C. was the author of an article in the January issue of the Maryland and New Jersey Genealogical Journal which provided an excellent genealogy of the Christian Getzendanner family of Frederick, Maryland. One of the responses to her article was from Gordon Wells of Jackson, Mississippi who wrote " There is a Christian Getzendanner who is recorded in the early 1800's in Jefferson County, Mississippi. Do you know if and how he relates to the Maryland family of Getzendanners?"

Since that time many of us have asked the same questions and have researched many hours through many years trying to determine the answer to the question " Does the Christian Getzendanner of Jefferson County, Mississippi relate to the Getzendanner family of Frederick, Maryland, and if so, how does he relate?"

I believe that recent research now provides us with the data that can identify Christian Getzendanner of Jefferson County, Mississippi. In the following material I will share this information and my conclusions with those of you who have shared the search for Christian's identification plus several of you who have specific skills and background to analyze the correctness of my suggestions. I will appreciate your frank appraisal and responses to the enclosed.

My conclusion is that Christian Getzendanner of Jefferson County, Mississippi was Christian Getzendanner, son of Adam (of Christian), of Frederick, Maryland, born 20 December 1767, married to Mary Ann Barr on 15 July 1786, who moved from Maryland to Mississippi in 1810. My conclusion is based upon land records of Frederick and Montgomery County, Maryland, newspaper abstracts from Western Maryland, census records from Mississippi and Maryland, family bible records, WPA history of Jefferson, County, Mississippi, and other documents and records.

A summary of some of these documents follows:

(1) There are 12 entries of land purchases and sales for the name "Christian Getzendanner" in the Index of Grantees and Mortgagees of Frederick County, Maryland for the years from 1796 to 1840 which I researched recently in Frederick, MD. There are 6 entries for the name "Christian Getzendanner" in the Index to Grantees and Mortgagees from 1777-1927 for Montgomery County Maryland, which I researched recently in Rockville, MD.

The most significant for our discussion are :

(a) deed No. Liber 14 Folio 180 , Frederick County, 12 April 1796 where Christian Getzendanner, son of Adam Getzendanner, sold to John Getzendanner, son of Adam Getzendanner, a tract of land "Adam's Content" called "Resurvey of Adam's Content". The deed was signed by Christian and his wife, Mary.

(b) deed No. Liber 14 Folio 182, 183, Frederick, County, 12 April 1796 where Christian Getzendanner bought land from Jacob Getzendanner Jr., "Resurvey of Frankfort", (part of original land of grandfather, Christian Getzendanner), 2 to 3 miles west of Frederick on road to Hagarstown, MD.

(2) From Frederick, MD newspaper extracts for 21 July 1796 we read "Christian Getzendanner has opened a House of Entertainment about 3 miles from Frederick Town on main road to Hagarstown." I'm sure all of us realize that a "house of entertainment" was a tavern, or a roadhouse supplying food and often lodging for the traveler.

From these records we note that the Christian Getzendanner making these transactions with his wife, Mary, was the son of Adam (of Christian). He was buying farmland, and had a tavern or roadhouse on his land, on the road to Hagarstown, MD.

Note: In these records, there was also a Christian Getzendanner, blacksmith, with his wife, Catherine, who was buying lots in Frederick Town. This, Christian, would have been the son of Baltis, of Christian, born on 18 August 1761, who married Catherine Remsburg on 2 April 1786.

(3) From "Western Maryland Newspaper Abstracts from 1799-1805" we read "Christian Getzendanner has removed to Georgetown and opened a "house of entertainment".

(4) From "Western Maryland Newspaper Abstracts-item dated 12 October 1808", we read "Christian Getzendanner, intending to move to the Mississippi Territory, offers a farm for sale where he lives, 2 1/2 miles from Rockville, MD 420 1//4 acres".

(5) Land records from Montgomery County, MD important for our discussion include: (a) Liber O Folio 254-257. 6 April 1809, lists a Christian Getzendanner, and his wife, Mary Ann, selling a farm of 417 1/2 acres to Jacob Getzendanner of Frederick Co. (This was probably Jacob Jr., a first cousin.)

(b) Liber O Folio 518 , 23 June 1810, lists Christian Getzendanner selling to John Getzendanner of Frederick Co. (probably his brother) most of his possessions including slaves, cow, beds, chairs.

I presume that the farm of 417 plus acres sold was the farm offered for sale of 420 plus acres, by Christian, and his wife Mary Ann. Also, it appears logical that the selling of slaves, cow, beds and chairs marks the approximate date of departure for Mississippi.

WE NOW BEGIN USING MISSISSIPPI RECORDS.

(6) Eliza, daughter of Christian Getzendanner, Jefferson County, MS was born in Tennessee in 1810 according to a McMurchy family bible, and the 1850 Census of Mississippi.

(7) WPA History -(State Archives-Jackson, MS) relates first permanent settlement in Jefferson County was Uniontown established in 1799. "Consisted of several hundred families on the original grant and included...McMurchy built wagons, plows, etc.; and "old Getzemmar" plaited bull whips." Shankstown was one of the earliest settlements being established in 1810. "This hamlet contained Gettsendeller's tavern, his wife's millinery shop...A citizen in the county wrote in 1888 "As my object is to rescue from oblivion the early manufacturers of Jefferson County...I must not overlook those of minor importance....George McMurchy made carts and wagons; Christian Gitzendannaer made bull whips..."Fayette Chronicle, Fayette, MS Dec. 14, 1888.

(8) The 1820 census of Mississippi includes..."C. Gitzenclennar, Jefferson County."

(9) Between 1815-1831, seven other children were born to Christian Getzendanner of Jefferson County, MS...McMurchy family bible, census of 1830, census of 1850, family letters.

(10) On 13 September 1831 Christian Getzendanner purchased land in Fayette, MS from a Lewis Reno (Chancery office 13-491, Jefferson County).

(11)There is no listing for Christian Getzendanner in the Mississippi census of 1840. In 1835, George and James McMurchy bought land in Fayette. MS (Christian's land?) If Christian died about this time, was this the reason or encouragement for his daughters, Eliza and Emily to marry in 1833, and Mary Ann in 1834? No record has been located for Christian's death date or burial location. It is possible that he was buried in the McMurchy family cemetery near the location of Shankstown, also near Fayette.

Is it significant that one of the daughters of Christian Getzendanner of Jefferson County was named Mary Ann, the name of the wife of Christian Getzendanner of Maryland, and that his one son was named John, the name of the brother to whom Christian Getzendanner of Maryland sold his possessions before leaving for Mississippi?

The records and information we have now assembled including the above on the Christian Getzendanner of Jefferson County, MS appear to me to identify him as the Christian Getzendanner of Montgomery and Frederick Counties of Maryland, who was the son of Adam Getzendanner (of Christian).

Having said this, there are some areas of Christian's life where we have no information. For example, Christian of Maryland, and his wife, Mary Ann, had six children. When Christian left for Mississippi what happened to these children? There is no record of them in Mississippi, and there is a clear record of them in Maryland after 1810. There are living descendants in Maryland, Illinois, and elsewhere of these Maryland children of Christian. And what about Mary Ann? We have no record of her or of her death in either Maryland or Mississippi. It appears that she must have died because we have the name of Charlotte for a second wife of Christian in Mississippi. Also Mary Ann must have been at least 40 years of age in 1810 and near the end of her childbearing years. Christian and his wife in Mississippi had children until 1831 (Maria) which would have been impossible for Mary Ann because of her age had she been living.

So it seems Mary Ann died sometime near the time of the trip to Mississippi. Probably it was not before the trip began (and after her signing the deed as the Maryland farm was sold). Christian of Mississippi's daughter, Eliza, born in 1810, in Tennessee, apparently on the trip to Mississippi, probably was the daughter of Mary Ann. It is possible that Mary Ann died within the next five years because the second Mississippi child of Christian was not born until 1815.

Christian's second wife was named Charlotte according to one family bible record. She must have been much younger than her husband because she bore his children over a sixteen year period, from 1815 to 1831. This age discrepancy between Christian and his second wife must have been accentuated by the eight young children in their family. Christian was known as "old Getzemmar" according to the WPA history. A young wife, a household of little children, Christian being in his mid 50's which was an old age for the frontier, very likely prompted this nickname.

What of the Maryland children of Christian and Mary Ann? It is possible that they were left with family or friends in Maryland until their parents were able to get settled on the frontier in Mississippi. The oldest son would have been 21 and their daughter would have been 18, when Christian left Maryland, and could have been responsible for their younger brothers. Mary Ann would have been pregnant when they left for their new home in Mississippi, and if she was not feeling well, this could have encouraged the parents not to take their children on their initial trip to the South. The pattern of leaving children with relatives or friends until the parents or a parent could get settled was not unusual during a move to a new area opening up for settlement. Many emigrant families from Europe often sent a parent or parents ahead to prepare for the others to come later. If this was what happened, and if Mary Ann died soon after they reached Mississippi, it would have been logical for their children to stay in Maryland especially since their children were grown up or at least 10 years of age.

Mark Getzendanner of Baltimore, Maryland, a descendant of Christian, son of Adam, has looked for many years for records for both Christian and Mary Ann in their older years, in the Maryland area, and has found none. After looking at the records and documents we have outlined above in the light of his research through the years, he is satisfied that the identification of Christian of Adam with Christian of Jefferson County is correct.

Several of us who have corresponded about the problem of identifying Christian of Jefferson County, MS, have looked at every possibility in the Maryland Getzendanner family line trying to find him. Over and over again we have looked at the family tree for Christian. Since we had no information about three of the sons of Baltis (of Christian), we wondered if one of them could be Christian, perhaps using a middle name. In some of the documents relating to Baltis's Will (which was contested) it was stated that his sons, John (Johannes) and Adam, were out of state at the time. This also meant they were out of state during the time that Christian was buying and selling land in Frederick and Montgomery Counties, Maryland so they could not have been the Christian we were looking for. I still have absolutely no information about Baltis' son, Baltis Jr.(or Balthaser Jr. as he is sometime listed) However, in the will documents, he is listed clearly as Baltis. With all the land records for the time we are interested in clearly referring to Christian of Adam or Christian, the blacksmith, son of Baltis, husband of Catherine Remsburg, I don't see any possibility that Baltis, Jr. would have been called Christian or could be Christian of Jefferson County, Mississippi.

There are other documents and items that I can refer to and discuss but what I have written should be enough for you to consider and evaluate. I will be very interested in your responses especially if you have any information which might question my conclusions. Also, if you have information which obviously I do not have regarding any of the persons written about, it would be most helpful if you would share it with me.

Is it possible that we have answered that thirty year old question of Gordon Wells to Edna Schulz?

Susan M. Getzendanner

Her Circle of Friends Encompassed the World

December 6, 2001

Two years and 59 floors.

That was the separation between Susan M. Getzendanner, 57, and her brother, Tom, 55.

He was temporarily working on the 38th floor of Tower Two. She held a longtime job on the 97th floor of Tower Two, working as a vice president at Fiduciary Trust Co.

They spoke briefly on Sept. 11, moments after the first plane slammed into Tower One.

"We agreed to stay put," her brother said.

When the second plane struck, he walked the 38 flights down to the ground.

His sister never got out. Getzendanner, a Manhattan resident, is among the missing and presumed dead from the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks.

She was the oldest of Joseph W. and Betty Anne Getzendanner's four children, in a tight- knit family which grew up in Shaker Heights, Ohio.

Getzendanner was independent and adventurous, trekking through the Himalayas many times, a pastime that landed her on the pages of Sports Illustrated for Women.

She lived a life of contrasts. She was a successful businesswoman who loved the city she lived in but an outdoors enthusiast who fled to Salisbury, Conn., on weekends, hiking up Mount Riga and gardening at the house she bought there.

Her siblings remember her most for her compassion and loyalty, a woman whose circle of friends encompassed the world - from Tibetan monks to friends she met on treks through Peru.

"The trekking she did was incredible," said her sister Martha Lingen, 48, of Nevada City, Calif. "We all lived, or traveled, vicariously through her."

Getzendanner was also a beloved aunt to 11 nieces and nephews, whom she adored.

"She would come here every Christmas," recalled her sister Lydia Kriso, 50, of Great Falls, Va. "She was always really interested in my children. She supported them emotionally and financially."

Now, the Getzendanner family is going through her two homes, the house in Salisbury and her Upper East Side apartment.

It's a painful but healing task, coming across things like a note Getzendanner wrote to herself. "Take piano lessons," it said, recalled her sister, a piano teacher.

Her sister is compiling a memory book for other people to learn about her sister's spirit.

It will include notes like the one she found in Getzendanner's house that was either a letter to her former classmates at Wells College in New York or an attachment from a Christmas card.

It was a note Getzendanner wrote after the 1993 bombing of the World Trade Center. She called the towers safer than they were before and safer than a lot of other places. And she said she'd always stay in Manhattan, her home, a place she loved, where living was an adventure in itself.

Perished in the World Trade Center Attack. More information available at the group Memorial:

World Trade Center

Getzendanner, Susan M. View/Sign Guest Book Susan M. Getzendanner spent 36 years on Wall St sustained by her spiritual beliefs and worldwide travel. Born during World War II in 1943, she died 58 years later under similar conditions in the attack on the World Trade Center, Tuesday, (September 11, 2001). Ironic because her life was spent journeying the world, confident in foreign lands and trusting fellow human beings. Sue grew up in Shaker Heights, OH, and graduated Wells College in 1965, then settled in New York City, NY, and devoted her career to the Fiduciary Trust Company. True to character, she ignored the competitive aspects of asset management and focused instead on delivering customer service. She loved Manhattan's diversity. When a seven year marriage to Peter Alsop ended in childless divorce, an amateur Gilbert & Sullivan theatrical group called the Blue Hill Troupe became her family on the Upper East Side. Later she sunk deep roots in Salisbury, oscillating comfortably back and forth between New York bustle and hiking or gardening on Mt. Riga. People in all walks of life trusted her judgment, and fed off her presence. Thrift, adventure, loyalty, and compassion were her hallmarks. She traveled prolifically, especially Nepal and Tibet, always leaving behind something of herself wherever she went. Nothing could match a trek in the Himalayas for setting her spirits soaring. She is survived by her parents, Joseph W. and Betty Anne Getzendanner of Newtown, PA; a brother Thomas F. of Summit, NJ; two sisters, Mrs. Lydia Kriso of Great Falls, VA, and Mrs. Martha Lingen of Nevada City, CA. Burial will be at the ancestral family plot in Old St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Chestertown, on the Eastern Shore of Maryland.

GOVERNOR SAMUEL OGLE

Who approved the Act of the Maryland Assembly creating Frederick County

THE ORIGIN OF FREDERICK COUNTY, MARYLAND

A BICENTENNIAL ADDRESS

FOREWORD

In 1948 the Frederick County Historical Society celebrated the 200th anniversary of the establishment of Frederick County. According to the Archives of Maryland, it was on June 11, 1748, that His Excellency Samuel Ogle, Governor of the Province, signed the Act of the Provincial Assembly creating the county.

On June 12, 1948, the county bicentennial banquet was held in Coblentz Hall at Hood College in Frederick. On that occasion I delivered this address eulogizing the settlers, particularly John Thomas Schley, the founder of Frederick, and also Delegate Turnor Wootton, who introduced the bill in the Assembly for the creation of the county, and Governor Ogle, who approved the measure.

As the Historical Society as well as a number of individuals have asked for copies of the address, I decided to publish it in book form. However, I delayed publication until I could locate a picture of Governor Ogle for the frontispiece.

I wish to extend my appreciation to Miss Estelle Tayloe for her permission to reproduce the oil portrait of the Governor, which is now in her home, "Mount Airy," at Warsaw, Virginia. I also thank the Clarke County Historical Association for the photograph of the painting.

EDWARD S. DELAPLAINE

THE ORIGIN OF
FREDERICK COUNTY, MARYLAND

THIS is the third time I have helped to celebrate a birthday anniversary in this hall. The first occasion was the 50th anniversary of Hood College. The second was the 200th anniversary of the City of Frederick. And now we celebrate the 200th anniversary of Frederick County.

I congratulate Mr. Charles F. Bowers for his work as President of the Historical Society of Frederick County and as Chairman of the Frederick City Bicentennial Committee. His work has been outstanding. Unfortunately, on account of lack of time or for other reasons, it was not possible for the Frederick City Bicentennial Committee to arrange for everything that should have been arranged, but it was a successful event, one of the most successful in our generation.

There was one thing that mystified me at that time. While we were celebrating the founding of Frederick, nothing was said about the founding of Frederick and nothing was said about John Thomas Schley, the founder of Frederick. Moreover, while we had a splendid address on Thomas Johnson and Roger Brooke Taney, there was probably not enough time to consider another favorite Frederick son, Francis Scott Key, author of our National Anthem.

Presumably Mr. Bowers recognized those omissions, and he accordingly made arrangements for two additional meetings this year, the one we are holding tonight and another to be held on the ninth of August. So I thought I would refer tonight to the founding of the town of Frederick, inasmuch as the county was founded at about the time the town was founded. And then I am certain that on the ninth of August President Truman and the Postmaster General of the United States will fill the other omissions.

In 1921 I delivered the Centenary Address for the Bible Society of Frederick County. When the meeting was over, a familiar character in our community informed me that he was disappointed with my address. Of course, that was nothing unusual. When I asked him why he was disappointed, he replied that I had told only about the first year of the Society, whereas he expected to hear the history of the other 99 years.

Tonight I will follow the same course that I followed before the Bible Society, and submit myself to the criticism that will inevitably follow. I will tell about the origin of Frederick County, and leave about 199 years of its existence to your imagination.

One of the reasons for doing this is that there are so many disputed points in Frederick County's history. I will give one illustration. We have always maintained that Thomas Johnson, when he was a member of the Continental Congress, nominated George Washington for Commander-in-Chief of the Continental Army; but President Coolidge, in an address which he delivered at Cambridge, Massachusetts, on July 3, 1925, gave the credit of nominating Washington to John Adams. I called President Coolidge's attention to this mistake. I thought you would be interested in hearing his reply, which contains more than thirty words. His reply was as follows: "Please accept my thanks for The Life of Thomas Johnson. I remember your town very well as I spoke there in 1920 and passed through there on my way to Mercersburg."

In 1937 I had the pleasure of participating on the program at the Centenary of Carroll County. At this point I compliment Senator Shipley, of Westminster, who has long been interested in Carroll County's history. With him I labored more than ten years ago to fix the boundary line between Frederick and Carroll Counties, and we accomplished this task without bloodshed or even animosity.

Let me say also that it has been a great pleasure to hear tonight the remarks of Mr. Hooper, President of the Board of Commissioners of Frederick County. It speaks well for him that he is still holding a position that he held more than ten years ago, when I was attorney to the Board of County Commissioners.

When I spoke at Carroll County's Centenary banquet at Western Maryland College in 1937, I quoted from the sage of Concord. I will quote the same passage again tonight: "What lasts a century pleases us in comparison with what lasts an hour. But a century, when we have once made it familiar and compared it with a true antiquity, looks dwarfish and recent." I referred on that occasion to the excavations in Syria, Persia, Palestine and Egypt, and to the pillars of the Temple of Karnak, which required 2,000 years for its construction.

Many years ago in Judge Worthington's Bible Class I used Clarke's Commentary, published in 1840. Dr. Adam Clarke fixed the time when God created the heaven and the earth as 4,004 B. C. Today the geologists and archaeologists tell us that as long as 7,000,000 years ago an ape-like man walked upright in South Africa. Until very recently the anthropologists had not been able to trace man back more than 1,000,000 years. But a short time ago the archaeologists found fossils in Egypt which they confidently believe are 30,000,000 years old. The Encyclopaedia Britannica says that it is possible that the age of the earth is considerably more than 100,000,000 years. Other authorities estimate that its age is several billion years. So, in talking about Frederick County, we are talking about a governmental unit which to the archaeologist is a mere infant.

At the time of the Carroll County Centenary it was surmised that the first white men ever to roam into that region were Frenchmen who came from the West with some Shawnee Indians about the year 1692 and visited the white men who had settled on the shores of the Chesapeake. But it was about 75 years after the arrival of the Ark and Dove before the white men began to leave the tidewater section to explore the western section of the Province. Some hunters and traders had penetrated the wilderness of Maryland possibly as early as 1700. Early in the Eighteenth Century some explorers climbed the Sugar Loaf Mountain. There were some German settlers in Maryland as early as the year 1710, for in the Journal of the Lower House of the Assembly it is recorded that the House was informed on October 27, 1710, that several Palatines had come to settle in this Province, and the House, wishing to encourage them, resolved that they should be free from any levy that year for the Province, the County, and the Parish.

Under the provisions of the Charter of Maryland, the Lord Proprietary owned all the land in the Province with power to grant any of it to those who were willing to pay an annual rent. In 1732 Charles Calvert, Lord Baltimore, heard that the Governor of Virginia, observing the remarkable industry and sturdy qualities of the German settlers on the Rappahannock, had granted a tract of about 25,000 acres of land in the western part of Virginia to two men, one a German named Hite, the other a Dutchman named Van Meter, upon condition that they would settle 200 German families on the land. The two men visited the German settlements in Pennsylvania to try to induce some of them to settle on their tract. Germantown, founded in 1684, now a part of Philadelphia, was a center for the refugees who had fled from the persecutions in Germany. It is easy to understand why so many thousands of Germans left the Fatherland. From time immemorial Europe has been drenched with human blood. In 1754 there were in Pennsylvania, exclusive of the Indians, about 190,000 inhabitants, of whom about 100,000 were from Germany. Some of them fled from religious persecution. Some escaped the tyranny of government. Some were drawn by entreaties of their relatives or friends who had already settled in America. They looked to America as a new land of opportunity. Hite and Van Meter succeeded in interesting many of the Germans in leaving Pennsylvania. They advised the Germans to travel by way of the old Indian trail, which ran through what is now Lancaster, York and Adams Counties in Pennsylvania, into the northern part of what is now Frederick County to what is now Frederick, then through Crampton's Gap and finally across a ford of the Potomac into Virginia.

Lord Baltimore believed he could persuade some of the Germans, who were preparing to journey over the Indian trail, to go no further than Maryland. On March 2, 1732, he issued a proclamation offering 100 acres of land to any single person, male or female, and 200 acres to any person having a family, who would settle on any of the "back lands of the Province." Many of the Germans who had planned to locate in Virginia decided to stay in Maryland upon learning that the liberal offer of Lord Baltimore compared favorably with the offer made by Virginia.

We can picture in our imagination the pioneers who trudged down the Indian trail and settled in this region. The male settler wore a hunting-shirt, a long loose garment with large sleeves, which was so wide that it lapped over at least twelve inches when belted. A large cape added to the appearance of the garment as well as the comfort of the wearer. In the bosom of the garment the hunter was able to deposit a small stock of provisions, his tow for cleaning the barrel of his rifle, and any other articles that he might need on his travels. Suspended to his belt were a tomahawk on the right side, and a scalping knife on the left, while a bullet bag sometimes hung from the front. The hunting-shirt was usually made of linsey, sometimes of coarse linen, occasionally of deerskin. The breeches and leggings and deerskin moccasins and a cap completed his attire. The moccasins were lined with deer's hair. The flaps on each side reaching some distance up the legs gave warmth to the legs and protected the feet from stones, or from dust, rain or snow. The women did not give as much attention to their costume as do the women in 1948. They wore linsey-woolsey dresses. In the winter they covered their feet with moccasins or shoe-packs. In the summer they went barefooted. The wardrobes of the family were hung on the walls of the log house, and sometimes they were stuffed into the cracks in the wall to keep out the rain.

Upon arriving at their destination, the men had to chop down some trees and carry the logs to the site selected. The carpenter of the party searched for a tree for making clapboards for the roof. He split the boards with a large frow as wide as the timber would permit. While that work was in progress, others were getting puncheons for the cabin. This was done by splitting trees at least a foot and a half in diameter, and hewing them with a broadax. They were half the length of the floor. On the second day the men raised the house and completed it. On the third day they furnished the house. They supplied it with a table made of a split slab supported by four raised legs set in auger-holes. Some three-legged stools were made in the same manner. At the back of the house some pins stuck in the logs supported some clapboards which served as shelves. They had wooden bowls, trenchers and noggins. They had some iron pots, a few pewter plates and spoons, possibly some knives and forks. When dishes were scarce, they used gourds and hard-shelled squashes. Then the carpenter made the bedsteads. There were several pegs around the walls for the men's hunting shirts and the women's coats, and attached to a joist were two small forks, or buck's horns, for the rifle and the shot-pouch.

The first village on the soil of what is now Frederick County was founded about the year 1732, ninety-eight years after the first settlement of Maryland. The village was called Monocacy. It was given this name because it was located along the west bank of the Monocacy River. It was located near the ford of the Monocacy used by the Indians in following their trail near the mouth of Hunting Creek. Following the old pack-horse trail, the wagon road was the main highway from Pennsylvania to the back country of Virginia. In the village of Monocacy there were a number of log houses, a tavern, and probably a trading-post and blacksmith shop. About one mile away the settlers built a union church for Reformed and Lutheran members. On the road from Creagerstown to Woodsboro is the site of the Monocacy log church, the first church ever built in Western Maryland. Monocacy grew in the wilderness according to the individual whim and fancy of each new settler. Not only did it have no zoning ordinance, but it was not even laid out as was the later town of Frederick.

The village of Monocacy had been in existence about thirteen years before Frederick Town was laid out in 1745 on Beaver Creek on a tract of land called "Tasker's Chance." This tract, which contained 7,700 acres, was surveyed for Benjamin Tasker, who was for many years the President of the Governor's Council, and he received the patent in 1727. Tasker sold this tract to Daniel Dulany in 1744. You have heard the old saying that "it takes the Irish to beat the Dutch." That is what happened in 1744. An astute Irishman, Daniel Dulany, the elder, who acquired approximately 20,000 acres of land in Frederick County, bought the land to sell it at a profit to the Germans. The purchase price of the tract, on which the city of Frederick now stands, was 841 pounds and 11 shillings in cash and security for 941 pounds and 25 shillings. The total purchase price was thus only 1,782 pounds and 36 shillings. In those days, however, land was not as valuable as it is today. Manhattan Island, on which the City of New York stands, was bought from the Indians for trinkets worth sixty guilders, or about twenty-four dollars. Mr. Dulany was born in Queen's County, Ireland, in 1685. While a student in the University of Dublin, he had a family quarrel and he and his brothers, William and Joseph, decided to leave the Emerald Isle and sail to the New World. Daniel was only 18 when he and his brothers arrived at Port Tobacco about 1703. For nearly forty years Mr. Dulany had the confidence of Lord Baltimore. His son, Daniel, known as Daniel Dulany, the younger, married Rebecca Tasker, daughter of Benjamin Tasker. So it was that the father of the groom purchased Tasker's Chance from the father of the bride.

It has been stated many times that Patrick Dulany, a cousin of Daniel Dulany, laid out the town of Frederick and that Patrick Street was named after him. In recent years it has been stated by local historians that there is no evidence that Patrick Dulany, a fellow of Trinity College in Dublin, was ever in Frederick, or even in Maryland. While Patrick Street may have been named for Patrick Dulany, it is also possible that it may have been named for St. Patrick, for some of the early deeds refer to this street as St. Patrick Street.

John Thomas Schley, who built the first house in Frederick on the northeast corner of East Patrick Street and Middle Alley, was born in the Palatinate of Germany in 1712. It is generally believed that he came to America about eight or ten years before he located on East Patrick Street. At that time he was only in his twenties. It is also generally accepted that Schley and his wife came to America with a group of about one hundred families from Germany and Switzerland. The Germans brought not only the guttural German language, but also unusual energy, perseverance, courage, and frugality. They needed all of these qualities to conquer the wilderness. The pioneer had to be farmer, hunter and warrior all in one. The settlers made their way across the Indian trail into a strange wilderness, exposed to the danger of attack from the Indians, and with no chance for immediate help.

How long the Indians had been here or where they came from is an unsolved mystery. For many years the land in what is now known as Western Maryland was a disputed territory among the Indian tribes, rather than a settled habitation of any particular tribe. It was so well stocked with game that no tribe was willing to permit any other tribe to stay long in peaceful possession. The Indian trail through the towns of Monocacy and Frederick formed a part of a great Indian war-path, and was probably used by the Shawnees in their migration northward, and by the Iroquois on their raids into the Creek country. The Shawnees located west of Catoctin Mountain. On the south were the Powhatan Confederacy and other tribes. On the east were the Susquehannocks, Conoy and Patuxent; on the North the Susquehannocks, Shawnees, Delawares and the Iroquois Confederacy. Most of the artifacts found in Frederick County, particularly the older ones, indicate that the inhabitants of this regions were the Delawares, who belonged to the Algonquin Confederacy.

At a later period a number of Iroquois Indians came down from the North. The Tuscaroras, who were found here by the white settlers in the Eighteenth Century, were of the same linguistic stock as the Five Nations, and belonged to the southern branch of the Iroquois Confederacy. According to a map made in 1721, "ye Tuskarora Indian Town" was located near the mouth of the Monocacy east of the mouth of Tuscarora Creek, which was named after the Tuscarora tribe of Indians.

We have been fortunate in our generation in having two outstanding collectors of Indian artifacts. They have not always agreed concerning the origin and meaning of Indian names. One of these collectors is of the opinion that the Monocacy River was given its name at the time of the settlement of the Conoy clan of the Delawares on Heater's Island between 1699 to 1712, when there was a trading-post or fort at the mouth of the river, and that the word means "at the fortified place." But the other collector holds the view, which I am inclined to accept from long tradition, that the word Monocacy originally meant in the Delaware language "the river of many bends." Concerning the word Catoctin there is also dispute. One of the collectors says that it may have meant to the Indian "the place of many deer"; the other maintains that it is an Algonquian word meaning "the old hill or mountain." There is also a difference of opinion as to the word Linganore. One says it is not of Indian origin; the other says it originated either with the Algonquians or the Iroquoians and meant "the left ear," i.e., the left tributary of the Monocacy.

The normal state of existence of the Indians was warfare, except when treaties had been made for a limited period. The Indians had clearly marked trails extending over the continent along the port-ages, through the forests and over the plains. For unknown ages this life had been going on. Deep in the soil of America were fabulous riches of coal and iron, of oil and copper, of silver and gold. These were almost unknown to the aborigines. More important to the Indians were the big herds of buffalo that roamed the plains, the millions of smaller furbearing animals, the fish that swarmed in the rivers and lakes, and the birds that darkened the sky. Fortunately the relations between the German settlers and the Indians in Maryland were quite friendly, at least until the outbreak of the French and Indian War. It has always been accepted that a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Schley was the first white child born in Frederick, and that she was nursed by an Indian squaw. The red men did not commit any depredations upon the property of the settlers except occasionally to take some cattle and hogs which they found on their marches.

In 1747, when Frederick Town was about a year old, the village of Monocacy had better accommodations for travelers than Frederick Town had. This is evident from the fact that two missionary church superintendents did not stop over night in Frederick Town, which had no tavern at that time, but returned to their quarters at Monocacy. One of these visitors was the Rev. Dr. Henry M. Muhlenberg, organizer of the Lutheran Church in America. He visited Monocacy in June, 1747. The other was the Rev. Michael Schlatter, a native of Switzerland, the organizer of the Reformed Church, who came to Monocacy in May, 1747, and again in May, 1748. On his second trip the Rev. Mr. Schlatter made a visit to Frederick Town. By that time the Reformed congregation had nearly completed their log church on West Patrick Street. Although the church was not quite finished, the Rev. Mr. Schlatter preached a sermon in the building on May 15, 1748.

Shortly afterwards the Rev. Mr. Schlatter referred to Mr. Schley as follows: "It is of great advantage to this congregation that they have the best schoolmaster I have met with in America. He spares neither labor nor pains in instructing the young and in edifying the congregation according to his ability, by means of singing and reading the word of God and sermons on every Lord's Day."

On the early rolls of the Reformed Church are many names which have survived for two hundred years and are still familiar in Frederick. Among these names are Schley, Steiner, Staley, Brengle, Derr, Shriner, Getzendanner, Mantz, Holtz, Bentz, Shriver, Kunkel, Hauer, Albaugh, Cramer, Brunner and Ramsburg.

The population in this region increased so rapidly that on May 27, 1748—about two years after the first houses were built in Frederick Town—a Delegate from Prince George's County, Turnor Wootton, delivered to the Speaker of the Lower House of the Maryland Assembly in Annapolis a bill entitled "An Act to divide Prince George's County, and to erect a new one by the name of ——— County." Delegate Wootton was born in England in 1695. On his arrival in this country, he went to London Town in Anne Arundel County and settled on South River. About a year ago I visited the historic region between Annapolis and Harwood and saw the meeting-house of the South River Club, said to be the oldest club of its kind in the United States. Turnor Wootton was a member of that club. In 1723, when he was 28 years old, Mr. Wootton moved from Anne Arundel County to a plantation called Essington on the Patuxent River in Prince George's County. So, when the Assembly of Maryland convened on May 10, 1748, "in the 34th year of the Dominion of the Right Honorable Charles, Absolute Lord and Proprietary of the Provinces of Maryland and Avalon, Lord Baron of Baltimore, His Excellency Samuel Ogle being Governor," Mr. Wootton, then 53 years old, appeared as a Delegate from Prince George's County.

Mr. Wootton must undoubtedly have heard of the two settlements in Western Maryland, one at the mouth of Hunting Creek, the other on Beaver Creek, but he tactfully refrained from urging the name of the county which he proposed to create. When we recall some years back the debate in Frederick as to whether we should call our new community hotel the Barbara Fritchie or the Francis Scott Key, we can appreciate the statesmanlike diplomacy of Delegate Turnor Wootton in refraining from suggesting the name of the new unit of government.

On May 31, 1748, the bill introduced by Delegate Wootton was read the second time, but this time the bill contained an important addition. It now provided for the erection of a new county "by the name of Frederick County." The bill was passed by the Lower House and was taken to the Upper House by two Delegates, John Hall, of Baltimore County, and John Stoddert, of Prince George's County. The Upper House passed the bill on June 10.

Several weeks ago I had the pleasure of chatting with Mr. William H. Wootton, of Baltimore, a direct descendant of Turnor Wootton, who introduced the bill in the Maryland Assembly to create Frederick County during the administration of Governor Ogle.

Samuel Ogle, a former cavalry officer, was commissioned Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Province in December, 1731, and served until December, 1732, when Charles Calvert took over the office of Governor himself. In June, 1733, Ogle was commissioned as Governor again, and served until 1742. It was during Governor Ogle's third administration, which extended from 1746 until his death in 1752, that the bill enacted by the Assembly to create Frederick County was placed before him.

By this time Governor Ogle had become a well-known and popular figure. He was born with a talent for politics and a genius for living well. The Colonists found that he had the ability to be firm without being arrogant. He took himself seriously but he was not ostentatious. In those days Maryland was growing and prospering. The population of Maryland in 1748 was about 130,000. Tobacco was the most important crop. In the first year of Governor Ogle's administration tobacco was made legal tender at the rate of one penny per pound. By 1736, after Monocacy was established, but before Frederick Town was laid out, there were 130 ships sailing back and forth across the Atlantic engaged in transporting tobacco to Europe and bringing back staple goods and luxuries to the Province of Maryland. Wheat and Indian corn were also exported from Maryland in large quantities. Grants of land were made to responsible persons who undertook to build flour mills for the purpose of encouraging the manufacture of flour for exportation.

While Governor Ogle was a capable and diligent executive, he was also celebrated as a sportsman. He was the leading spirit in the horse racing circles of the Province. It has generally been said that Frederick Town was named in honor of Frederick Calvert, son of Charles Calvert, Lord Baltimore. But Frederick Calvert, who was born in 1731 and became the sixth and last Lord Baltimore, was only 14 years old when Daniel Dulany, the elder, laid out the town of Frederick. It is entirely possible that the town on Beaver Creek was named for Lord Baltimore's friend, Frederick, Prince of Wales. Frederick Calvert himself was named after Frederick, Prince of Wales. At that time the Prince of Wales, son of King George II, was heir apparent to the British throne and was an important young man in the public affairs of England. While it is a probability that Mr. Dulany and Mr. Schley intended to compliment the Prince of Wales, there is no definite evidence to sustain this view.

In 1741 the Governor married Ann Tasker, a daughter of Benjamin Tasker. The Governor was 47, Miss Tasker only 18. In 1742, when Bladen was appointed Governor, Ogle took his young bride to England, where they stayed for five years. At Annapolis I now sit beside Chief Judge Ogle Marbury, a descendant of Governor Ogle; and when an opinion is handed down by the Court of Appeals, it is filed by Mr. Maurice Ogle, Clerk of the Court, also a descendant of Governor Ogle. Governor and Mrs. Ogle had five children, one of whom, Mary Ogle, was born in England. When the Governor and his wife returned to Maryland in March, 1747, they brought along not only the two-year-old daughter but also a race horse named "Spark." The celebrated horse had been presented to him by Charles Calvert, Lord Baltimore, who in turn had received the horse as a gift from Frederick, Prince of Wales.

On Saturday, June 11, 1748, the members of the Lower House called on His Excellency Samuel Ogle, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Province, and presented to him the bills they had passed. One of these was the bill creating Frederick County to include all of Western Maryland. The Governor, in the presence of his Council, immediately signed his name to the bills. 46 Maryland Archives, 54-57; Maryland Gazette, June 15, 1748.

Governor Ogle then made an address to the Gentlemen of the Upper and Lower Houses of the Assembly, which signalized the close of the session. In this address the Governor said: "The temper and moderation with which you have carried on the public business of this session are highly commendable; and I flatter myself that the laws now made will be of real service to the country."

It had been only a year since the Governor returned from England with "Spark," the celebrated race horse, which had been presented to him by Frederick, the Prince of Wales. Thus there can be little doubt that he was gratified that the Assembly had called the new county "Frederick." But it can only be conjectured that the Governor was consulted concerning the name of the new County before the bill was passed by the Lower House, and that the County was given the name of Frederick because the Governor wanted to compliment Frederick, the Prince of Wales.

The first town of Monocacy flourished for considerably more than a quarter of a century. But between 1760 and 1770 a new village was built about a mile away by John Creager on his land near the old log church. This site was on higher ground than the town of Monocacy, and thus was more desirable because it was beyond the danger of being flooded by the Monocacy or its tributary. Within a short time the tradesmen moved their establishments to the more favorable location. New roads were built, and the Baltimore and Pittsburgh road crossed the George Town and Buffalo road. Creagerstown, on one of the first cross-roads of the country, became an important stagecoach point. It had four fine taverns for the accommodation of the travelers. From that time on Monocacy began to fade in importance and soon became one of the ghost towns of the State. Maryland has a number of ghost towns, but none more intriguing to the imagination than Monocacy, the village that was started in the year of Washington's birth and flourished when the Monocacy River was the western frontier of civilization.

In contrast to Monocacy, the town of Frederick, which became the county seat probably through the influence of Daniel Dulany, has had a steady growth; and we are entitled to justifiable pride in the history of Frederick City and Frederick County during the period of the past two hundred years.

The last two centuries have been a period of marvelous change. Probably at no time in the history of the world has civilization been subjected to such rapid development. Several weeks ago the State of Virginia celebrated the 341st anniversary of the founding of the first permanent Colony of English settlers at Jamestown. From a handful of starving settlers the country has grown to a Nation of about 150,000,000 people made up of all the races of the world. The huge wilderness stretching 3,000 miles from the Atlantic to the Pacific has been filled with homes and stores, schools and colleges, factories and farms and all the comforts of civilization.

Supplied at each important step of advance with new implements of science, which hastened our pace, lured by such rewards for industry and haste as were never offered to man before in the history of the world, the people of America threw themselves, as James Truslow Adams has said, "into the task of physical domination of our environment with an abandonment that perforce led us to discard much that we had started to build up in our earliest days." Dr. Adams has also written: "The barbarian carelessness of the motoring millions, the littered roadsides, the use of our most beautiful scenery for the advertising of products * * * are but symptoms of our slipping down from civilized standards of life, as are also lawlessness and corruption, with the cynical disregard of them by the public."

In the Eighteenth Century there was an established civilization with stability of material and spiritual values. Then began the scramble for the untold wealth which lay at the foot of the rainbow. The frontier was always retreating before us. As we went forward, stability gave place to the constant flux on which we have since lived. In referring to the Memorial Day exodus of Baltimoreans by motor cars, railroads, steamship lines and airlines, the editor of the Baltimore Sun recently said: "This mass holiday movement * * * is a revival of the old pioneer spirit. There is about it a distinct flavor of the covered wagon and the Oregon Trail. If no panther leaps from a tree overhead or Indian takes a toll of scalps, there are plenty of other hazards on the highway to give a modern journey the old-time zest."

But while we have been occupied with material conquest, we have not entirely lost the vision of something nobler. If the American has hastened after the pot of gold, he has also seen the rainbow, and we felt that it promised a hope for mankind. In this critical hour in the history of the world, the eyes of hundreds of millions of people are looking to this country as never before. They know that free men will struggle and sacrifice when they know what they are sacrificing for. Now, as in the days of our forefathers, the people of America can give hope and inspiration to the distressed people of the world.

His hard work and constant attention to his business have made him a prosperous man and the owner of one of the desirable farms of the district. Mr. Eyler is a Democrat, actively interested in all that concerns the improvement of the county.

Edward Ross Eyler was married to Mary, daughter of Josiah and Ann Eliza (Homes) Wetzel, whose father was a prominent farmer of Emmitsburg District, Frederick County. Their children are: 1, Key Margaret, at school; 2, Lulu M., at school; 3, Charles F.; 4, Raymond E.; 5, Gordon L.; all at home. Mr. Eyler and his wife are members of the United Brethren Church in Eyler's Valley. They are active workers in the church, and contribute liberally to church finances. THE LATE EDWARD T. GETZENDANNER, a well-known farmer who resided near Poolesville, Md., eldest son of Daniel and Mary (Derr) Getzendanner, was born in Frederick County, Md., January 22, 1825.

FIRST SETTLEMENTS OF GERMANS IN MARYLAND—THE GETZENDANNER FAMILY.

Christian Getzendanner, or, as sometimes found in the old records, Kitchadanner, was born in Switzerland, but took up his residence in Schiefferstadt, Germany, where, in 1723, he met and married Ann Barbara Brunner. In 1729 he came with the Brunner family to America, landing in Philadelphia, Pa., September 15, (See Rupp's 30,000 names, page 16, in the Library in Harrisburg, Pa.,) and settled about two miles west of the spot where the city of Frederick was afterwards laid out. He purchased from the Indians, a tract of 3000 acres extending from the foot of the mountains, where Fairview now stands, easterly towards the Monocacy River. Mr. Getzendanner relied upon the title obtained from the Indians, but, ascertaining that a Mr. O'Neal had obtained a patent for about 1000 acres on the eastern part of his land, his eyes were opened to the necessity of obtaining a better title to his possessions. He accordingly applied for a patent and, on April 17, 1754, succeeded in securing a patent for 930 acres, on a part of which his original settlement had been made. The first house, which was built of logs, stood until about thirty years ago. The descendants of Mr. Getzendanner intermarried with the families of the Schleys, Kemps and Buckeys. Christian Getzendanner died in 1766, bequeathing the land to his son, Adam.

Adam Getzendanner died in 1783, and by his will divided his land among his three sons John, Christian, and Jacob.

John Getzendanner, the great-grandfather of Mrs. E. D. Shriner, who was the eldest, receiving the part on which his father resided. At his death, in 1841, he divided his land called "Adam's Content," among his three sons Johnathan, Daniel and Abraham.

Johnathan Getzendanner was married to Elizabeth, daughter of John Derr. Dr. John W. Getzendanner, of Middletown, Md., is the grandson, and Dr. Harvey Getzendanner, of Frederick, Md., the great-grandson of Johnathan and Elizabeth (Derr) Getzendanner.

Abraham Getzendanner was married to Mary, daughter of Peter Buckey. These brothers had large families, but their descendants, with few exceptions, left Frederick County and settled in other parts of Maryland, Virginia, and members of the Southern and Western States.

Daniel Getzendanner was married to Mary, daughter of John Derr and a sister of Elizabeth Derr (Mrs. Johnathan Getzendanner). Their eldest son, Edward T. Getzendanner, great-great-grandson of the original settler, Christian Getzendanner, spent his whole life at farming. In politics, he was a life-long Democrat. In religion, he was a member of the Reformed Church. Edward T. Getzendanner was married to Catharine Schaeffer. Their children are: 1, Annie Mary, died July 18, 1864; 2, Mrs. Nelson Diehl, of Frederick; 3, Winton; 4, Daniel J., died May 19, 1899; 5, William Reese, resides in Montgomery County, Md.; 6, Addie, the wife of Dr. Barrick, of Newark, Ohio; 7, Nannie May (Mrs. Edward Ross Shriner), of Frederick County, Md. Mr. Getzendanner died at his farm near Poolesville, Md., February 14, 1897.

1763 that it was finally settled, and then by the shrewdness of the Penns Maryland was dismembered of between three and four millions acres of land. Whatever doubts may have existed in the minds of historical students, as to the validity of the claim of the Lords Baltimore, have been entirely brushed aside by the information disclosed in the Calvert papers recovered a few years ago by the Maryland Historical Society.

GERMAN SETTLEMENTS IN VIRGINIA.

For many years Germantown was the rendezvous for the Protestant refugees fleeing from the relentless persecutions which devastated some of the fairest portions of France and Germany. From here as a centre the immigrants spread over Southern Pennsylvania into what is now Lancaster, York and Adams counties, many of them or their descendants finding their way across the boundary line into Maryland and Virginia.

As early as 1714 twelve German families of fifty persons, followed by twenty families of eighty persons, settled on the Rappahannock river near the present city of Fredericksburg. Others followed, and by 1730 some of them had crossed the mountains into Shenandoah and Rockingham counties. These in turn were reinforced by Germans from the Pennsylvania settlements, and by 1743 there were a number of flourishing settlements of Germans in the Shenandoah and other valleys of Virginia. In 1748, when Washington was surveying lands in that part of Virginia, "he met many Germans, men, women and children, who followed him through the woods and spoke nothing but Dutch (German.)"

"These Virginia settlements were in regular communication with the Pennsylvania settlements, and it was in consequence of the kindness shown the settlers by Governor Spottswood that the German-Pennsylvanians in the last century called Virginia "Spottsylvania."

SETTLEMENT AT MONOCACY, FREDERICK COUNTY.

The route of travel from Lancaster county to the Virginia settlements was over an Indian trail, a route for pack horse travel and missionaries, extending across the territory now York and Adams counties, Pennsylvania, to a point on the Monocacy river near the boundary line of the Provinces of Maryland and Pennsylvania and thence to the Potomac river, crossing the Blue or South Mountain, through what was and is now "Crampton's Gap."

It was by this route that about 1729 the first Germans drifted into Maryland (it is said that they thus came as early as 1710-1712), and settled near the Monocacy river, and between 1732 and 1734 built the first German church in Maryland. It was situated on the west side of the river, and about ten miles above where Frederickstown was afterwards laid out.

In 1739, by order of the Lancaster County Court, a road was built from Wright's Ferry (Wrightsville), to the Maryland line, a distance of thirty-five miles, and thence, by an act of the Maryland Assembly, it was continued to the Potomac river. This road followed substantially the old Indian trail, and for many years was known as the Monocacy Road. It was the great highway from the East to the South and Southwest, and it was over this road that in 1755 the 150 wagons and 200 pack horses, secured in Pennsylvania by the efforts of Benjamin Franklin, then Postmaster-General were transported to the camp at Frederick, where a part of the army was collected preparatory to the campaign which ended in the disastrous defeat of General Braddock. [It was at this camp that Washington and Franklin met for the first time, and where both were called in consultation with General Braddock and Governor Sharpe, and it was while the army was encamped here during April and May, 1755, that Washington was appointed aide-de-camp to General Braddock.]

It was the route by which the British prisoners captured during the Revolutionary War were taken to the barracks at Frederickstown, Maryland, and Winchester, Virginia, and the route used by General Wayne with his 900 patriots on their way to Yorktown, Virginia, during the same war.

It was also the road used during the war of 1812, when the British threatened Washington and Baltimore, to transport cotton from Georgia, Mississippi and other points in the South to Philadelphia and New York. In 1808 this road was macadamized and it continued to be the great highway between the lower counties of Pennsylvania and Maryland and the South until the building of railroads.

"The Governor of Virginia and afterwards Lord Fairfax made strenuous efforts to direct the German immigration to Virginia, and in 1732 the Governor ceded a tract of land of some 25,000 acres to a certain Joss Hite, a German, and Jacob Van Meeter, a Dutchman, on condition that they would settle 200 German families on the land ceded to them. Hite and Van Meeter traversed Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Germany in search of emigrants and directed them by the road of the Monocacy to Virginia. Charles Lord Baltimore, not to be outdone by the Governor of Virginia, thereupon on the 2d of March, 1732, made the liberal offer of 200 acres of land in fee, subject to a rent of four shillings sterling per year, payable at the end of three years, for every hundred acres, to any person having a family who should within three years actually settle on the land between the rivers Potomac and Susquehanna, and to each single person, male or female, between the ages of fifteen and thirty, one hundred acres of land on the same terms, with the assurance that they should be as well secured in their liberty and property in Maryland as in any part of the British plantations in America without exception.

"The Germans, on their way from Pennsylvania to Spottsylvania, seeing the rich lands of Frederick county, offered them on such liberal terms (a rental of one cent an acre per annum), did not proceed further, but struck their spades into the ground right there and then, and in a few years there was a prosperous settlement in and about Monocacy. From there they spread east, south and west, but for many years the church at Monocacy was their meeting place," and Lutherans and German Reformers scattered for miles in the surrounding country, including the subsequent settlement at Fredericktown, worshipped therein for a a number of years.

SETTLEMENT AT FREDERICKTOWN.

In 1735 there arrived about 100 families from the Palatinate Germany by way of Chesapeake Bay, landing at Annapolis or Alexandria (both of which towns were then more important ports of entry than Baltimore.) Their leader or head man was Thomas Schley, "their schoolmaster." This gentleman was the progenitor of the large and prominent family of that name in Maryland, Georgia, and other parts of our country.

These settlers located on lands belonging to Daniel Dulaney, of Annapolis, who was a large land owner in that section of the province. Here ten years later (1745) a town was laid out on both sides of Carroll Creek, and three miles from the Monocacy river. In compliment to Frederick, son of Lord Baltimore, then a youth of 14, it was called Fredericktown.

Germans from Pennsylvania, as well as direct from the Palatinate, continued to arrive, and these being reinforced by settlers of English, Scotch and Irish extraction from the lower counties of the province, the wilderness was soon transformed into cultivated fields.

The early German and Swiss set lers were essentially a religious people, and a history of their churches and congregations is a history of themselves. Those who settled at Monocacy and Frederick were remarkably free of the sects, Moravians, Mennonites and others, into which the German settlers of Pennsylvania were divided. They were mostly followers of the teachings of Luther and Zwingli, known respectively as Lutherans and German Reformers.

It was the invariable custom of the early settlers, when a sufficient number located in a neighborhood, to set about the erection of first—a schoolhouse, and then a church, the schoolmaster being regarded but little less an important personage than the pastor. Our pious forefathers wisely believed that the intellectual improvement of the young was a necessary adjunct to their religious training. They organized congregations, but it was many years before regular pastors were obtained for them. The schoolmaster read printed sermons on Sunday and imparted religious as well as secular instruction to the young. The Reformers around the Monocacy and Frederick settlements mostly occupied the tract of land known as "Tasker's Chance," containing 7,000 acres of land, and, although there were a few scattered settlers who had come from the lower counties, these were undoubtedly the first considerable number of white people to locate in and about the present city of Frederick.

In 1748 they built a log church on a lot of ground 62x363 feet, extending from the present Church street to Patrick street, donated by Daniel Dulaney; the church being located on the Patrick street end of the lot. The County Court was for several years held in this building. By the year 1763 this church was found to be inadequate for the needs of the growing congregation, and a substantial stone building was erected, 45 feet wide, 60 feet long and 28 feet high, with a tower and steeple 60 feet high, which was subsequently increased to 150 feet. This church was used by the congregation over three-fourths of a century, until 1848, when a new building of enlarged capacity was built on the opposite side of the street. The corner-stone was laid June 12th of that year in the presence of General Winfield Scott and a large number of United States Army officers, who were in attendance at a Court of Enquiry held at the time. The old church was left standing until 1881, when it was torn down and a chapel built upon its site. The tower and the remarkably graceful spire were fortunately permitted to stand as originally constructed.

Among the early membership of this church are found the names of Adams, Baltzell, Brunner, Baer, Cramer, Getzendanner, Michael, Ramsburg, Holtz, Kemp, Sinn, Stull, Schley, Steiner, Thomas, Wolff and others, descendants of some of whom are living on lands originally settled by their forefathers. At later periods came from the Pennsylvania settlements as well as direct from the fatherland, the Baers, Bantzs, Gepharts, Buckeys, Brengles, Dolls, Mantzs, Hauers, Lingenfelders, Schwartzs, Shrivers, Stulls, Schriners, Schultzs, Rohrs, Kunkles, Kuntzs, Faubles, Weavers, Wipperts, Webbers, Witmans, Albaughs, Derrs, Bentzs, Dofflers, Weiss, Wetzel, Huber, Staleys, Devilbiss, Houcks, etc.

In 1752 the Lutherans at Frederick commenced the building of a stone church upon a lot of ground deeded to the congregation for a nominal consideration by Daniel Dulaney. The foundation was dug and the walls reared to the height of five or six feet when the regular pursuits of the town were thrown into confusion by the French and Indian war, which now broke out in great fury. The formerly well disposed Indians, instigated by French money and influence, set the midnight torch to the homes and barns of the peaceful settlers of Frederick county. The women and children, as a protection from the tomahawk and scalping knife of the infuriated savages, were removed to places of security, and instead of the plough, the men took guns and swords into their hands. Many of the more timid abandoned their homes and barns and sought safety by flight to distant points. So great was the desertion on the frontier that Washington wrote in August, 1756: "The whole settlement of Conogocheague has fled and there remains now only two families from there to Fredericktown. That the Maryland settlements are abandoned is certainly a fact, as I had the accounts transmitted to me by several hands and confirmed yesterday, 28th, by Henry Brinker, who left Monocacy the day before, and who affirms that 350 wagons had passed that place within the space of three days."

"It was in these troublous times that the famous Indian fighters, the Prathers, Pohs (Poes), in Maryland, and the Weitzels, in Virginia, all German settlers, first became known. Colonel Thomas Prather lived two miles from Conogocheague and was the commander of the Frederick county militia. The old stockade fort, near the present town of Clearspring, was rebuilt at an expense of £6,000 and named Fort Frederick. It was quadrangular in form, 120 yards each way, with heavy stone walls, with bastions, and contained barracks sufficient to accommodate 300 persons. It was for a time under the command of Col. F. Haldiman, a German Swiss officer, commissioned by the English government. It was garrisoned by Frederick county militiamen, 200 of whom volunteered to strengthen the distant Fort Cumberland, an outpost in this war."

The capture of Fort du Quesne (Pittsburg) by the British and Americans in 1758 subdued the Indians, and the farmers returned to their homesteads, peace and quietude following the turmoil of war in Western Maryland, and work on the Lutheran church, as well as on the courthouse at Frederick, which had also been interrupted, was resumed, and both were speedily completed.

The best accounts we have of the settlements at Monocacy and Frederick, as well as those at Conogocheague and in the valley of Virginia, are from the reports of the Reverends Michael Schlatter and Heinrich Melchior Muhlenberg, the organizers respectively of the German Reformed and Lutheran Churches of America.

In 1746 Mr. Schlatter was sent by the Reformed Churches of Holland as a missionary to the Dutch and Reformed settlers of this country to organize them into congregations in the various localities where they resided and to bring them into ecclesiastical relations with the churches of the Old World.

From Philadelphia and Germantown as a centre, Schlatter made many journeys of one, two, and even three hundred miles, preaching the Gospel and gathering up families and organizing them into congregations.

In his journal, Mr. Schlatter says, "on the 29th April, 1747, I undertook a great journey to Monocacy and other places in Maryland." After stopping and holding religious services at Lancaster, York and Conewago he reached Monocacy on May 6th, where on the following day he preached a sermon and baptized twenty-six children, and on the next day, May 8th, he administered the Lord's Supper to eighty-six members.

After Divine Service he read his instructions to the people, and forty-nine heads of families at once offered to raise for the support of a minister, in money and grain, the amount of forty pounds, equal to 266 Dutch guilders. Referring to the Monocacy congregation, Mr. Schlatter says: "It appears to me to be one of the purest in the whole country, and one in which I have found the most traces of the true fear of God; one that is free of the sects, of which, in other places, the country is filled. For on 7,000 acres of land in that neighborhood there are none but such as are of the German Reformed faith." He intimates that this is the seventh congregation or charge that he had organized, and says, if this congregation was united with the one called Conogocheague, lying thirty miles distant, the two would be able to sustain a minister. [Such a union was effected some years later.] After ordaining elders and deacons he returned the same evening to Conowago and arrived at York on the morning of May 9th. Mr. Schlatter did not at this time extend his visit to Frederick town, as some of the church historians have erroniously stated, but exactly one year later he again visited Monocacy, arriving there May 7th, 1748, and on the following day "in Fredericktown," a newly laid out town, preached in the schoolhouse," and on the same day, in company with an elder of the congregation, who offered to accompany him through Virginia, he started on his journey. They arrived at Conagocheague at 2 o'clock the next morning. Here Mr. Schlatter found a German Reformed congregation, to whom he preached a sermon. After which he and his companion traveled ten miles to the Potomac river and crossed over into Virginia, and traveled fifteen miles without seeing either a house or human being. On the 10th day of May they took dinner at Fredericktown, Virginia (now Winchester). In the evening Mr. Schlatter preached to a Reformed congregation at Shenandoah (Strasburg). The next day they proceeded forty two miles up the valley to New Germantown (New Market), where Mr. Schlatter preached to a large congregation. He and his companion then retraced their steps to Monocacy, where they arrived on May 12th.

The following day Mr. Schlatter preached at Fredericktown, Maryland, "in a new church which is not yet finished." After the sermon he administered the "Holy Supper" to ninety-seven members, baptized several aged persons and children, married three couples and installed elders and deacons.

He says: "It is a great advantage to this congregation (Monocacy) that they have the best schoolmaster I have met with in America. He (Thomas Schley) spares neither labor nor pains in instructing the young and edifying the congregation according to his ability by means of singing and reading the word of God and printed sermons on every Lord's Day."

Mr. Schlatter found the land fruitful for grain and pasture, producing "Turkish corn (maize or Indian corn) almost without manure, with stalks ten and more feet long. He found in Virginia "deer in droves" and saw "a fearful rattlesnake seven or eight feet long and five inches thick. This is a dangerous kind of snakes. Still it warns the traveler by rattling when he is yet twenty steps off, so that he has time to avoid it."

There were many Indians in the neighborhood of the settlements, but Mr. Schlatter found them "well disposed and very obliging, and, when not made drunk by strong drink, friendly towards Christians."

Mr. Schlatter, in May, 1753, again visited Frederick, accompanied by Rev. Theodore Frankenfield, whom he installed the first regular pastor of the Monocacy and Conogocheague congrega tions, which, according to Mr. Schlatter's report, July, 1751, were the only regularly organized German Reformed congregations in Maryland.

Mr. Muhlenberg arrived at Monocacy, June 24th, 1747, just seven weeks after the first visit of Mr. Schlatter. Two men from Maryland met him at Conowago on the previous day to take him to a place thirty-six miles distant. They started in a drenching rain, and, finding no house at which to stay, "they were compelled to ride all night through the wilderness with the rain pouring down and the poor horses up to their knees in water and mire." By morning, June 24th, they reached their quarters. "This was the place called Monocacy, ten miles east of Fredericktown, Maryland. Here they found a log church."

The members of the congregation assembled, but "before sermon Mr. Muhlenberg wrote in the English language in the book of church records a number of articles concerning the order to be observed in the congregation." This book is now in the archives of the Lutheran Church of Frederick. On the back is stamped "Gemiende Manacakee" (Congregation of the Monocacy. It should be greatly prized by the members of that congregation from the fact that it contains the rules for the government of their church in the handwriting of the great and good man who labored so faithfully for the establishment of Lutheranism in this country. From the fact that so few of the names attached to the articles in this church book are now to be found in the county, it is supposed the most of them or their immediate descendants drifted into other parts of the country.

"Mr. Muhlenberg did not find the German Lutherans at Monocacy in as good condition as Mr. Schlatter found the Reformers. The Moravians, with their missionaries, George Ninke and his wife, had been among them and made great inroads into the church, causing much bitterness and strife among the members, which he only partially succeeded in removing."

"Proceeding further, on June 25th, Mr. Muhlenberg and his companions came, after a ten-mile ride, to Fredericktown. A number of Lutherans living there, members of the Monocacy congregation, had been prevented from meeting the others on the previous day by reason of the rain." The most of these attached their signatures to the articles in the church book. After administering the Lord's Supper and baptizing some children Mr. Muhlenberg returned the same evening to his quarters at Monocacy, and on the following day proceeded to Conawago, York, Lancaster and to his home, at Philadelphia.

Among the early membership of this congregation are found the names of John George Lay, John Krietzman, John M. Roemer, Peter Axtel, Henry Sechs, Jacob Hoft, Martin Wetzel, George Schweinhardt, John Schmidt, John Verdries, Michael Reisner, Dr. Schney, John Stolmyer, John Sechs, Valentine Verdries, John George Seldner, John Christoph Schmidt, John Vogler, John Davis, Frederick Overdries, Martin Wehel, Jr., Nicholas Wehel, Frederick Willhaut, George Honig, George Rolz, George M. Hoffman, Peter Apfal, Ludwig Weltner, Frederick Unsalt, Jacob Hoen, Hans Frederick Geyer. These names are attached to the rules in the church book referred to.

At later periods came the Applebees, Boyers, Hardts, Fishers, Debruers, Hallers, Homes, Conradts, Ebberts, Jenkins, Howmans, Levys, Englebrechts, Mayheffers, Mayers, Myers, Metards, Nixdoffs, Weltzhimers, Bechtels, Cullers, Anglemans, Metzgers Hoffmans, Dills, Fearhakes, Reichs, etc.

Monocacy was not only the earliest permanent settlement of Germans in Maryland, but if the statement of Rev. Dr. Zacharias, in his centenary sermon Whit-Sunday, 1848—that Germans settled between the Monocacy river and the mountains in 1710–1712, be correct, Monocacy was the first settlement of white people within the limits of Western Maryland. It was certainly the most important settlement of Germans in the State until the erection of Frederick county, in 1748, when Fredericktown, having been made the county seat, rose into prominence and the headquarters of both churches were transferred to the more populous centre; and as Joppa, one of the early county seats of Baltimore county, was absorbed by Baltimoretown, so Fredericktown absorbed the more ancient Monocacy.

The exact location of the old log church to which Mr. Muhlenberg refers is not known. The only data that has come down to us is, that it was erected on the west side of the Monocacy river, near where the Virginia road crossed the river and about ten miles above where Fredericktown was afterwards laid out, and about three and a-half miles southeast of the subsequent settlement at Graceham. This would locate it a little south of the present Cregerstown.

This building is said to have stood until the commencement of the present century, but not a vestige of it remains to mark the spot where the first German congregations in Maryland were organized and where they worshipped for a period of fifteen to twenty years.

After the absorption of Monocacy the section of the county known as the Glades became populous, and a log church was built in 1750 upon land ceded by Lord Baltimore. After the Revolution and the confiscation of the property of Mr. Dulaney, who had become possessed of a large portion of the reserved lands of Lord Baltimore, the General Assembly of Maryland passed an act confirming the title for a five-acre lot to the German Church on "Monocacy Manor." For a period of over eighty years the congregation at the "Glades" was under the pastoral charge of the ministers of the Reformed Church at Frederick, but in 1833 it was detached therefrom and was united with the congregations at Woodsboro, Rocky Hill an Cregerstown.

Between 1748 and 1754, 2,800 Palatinates came into Maryland by way of Baltimore and Annapolis; some of whom located in Baltimore and Baltimore county, but the larger part settled in and about Fredericktown. Unfortunately the shipping lists of immigrants to Maryland have not been preserved, but it is known that among the immigrants who arrived during the periods named were Christopher B. Mayer and his son-in-law, Rev. Bernard Houseal, who, in 1753, became the first regular pastor of the Lutheran Church at Frederick.

Mr. Mayer brought a letter from Cecilius Calvert, Secretary and acting Proprietary of Maryland, to Benjamin Tasker, of Annapolis, president of the Council and one of the original large land owners in Frederick county, requesting him to give the necessary assistance to Mr. Mayer and those accompanying him to forward them to Manockesy, their destination. Mr. Mayer was cousin to Christian Mayer, who settled in Baltimore in 1781; descendants of both of whom have been among the most prominent and distinguished citizens of Maryland, among them the late Brantz Mayer and Mr. Charles F. Mayer, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad; the last named is a descendant of both, his father having been a son of Christian Mayer and his mother a descendant of Christopher.

SETTLEMENTS AT CONOGOCHEAGUE AND HAGERSTOWN.

The settlement known as Conogochegue was near the present town of Clearspring and seven or eight miles southwest of Hagerstown. The first settlers, who were mostly Germans and members of the Reformed and Lutheran Churches, it is thought, came soon after 1735.

At the time of Mr. Schlatter's visit, in 1748, and until after the French and Indian war, Conogocheague was the westernmost settlement in Maryland. As has been stated, the settlers built a stockade fort near the settlement. They also built another on the Potomac river, in which their families sought refuge when the Indians became hostile.

The site of the log church at Conogocheague, in which Mr. Schlatter preached in 1748, is now occupied by a stone church, built in 1795, known as St. Paul's, distant about one and a-half miles from Clearspring. It is now and always has been a "Union Church," both Lutherans and Reformers worshipping therein. The first regular German Reformed pastor was Theodore Frankenfield, who served this as well as the congregation at Fredericktown from 1753 to 1755. It was, perhaps, during the pastorate of this gentleman that Monocacy lost its prestige, as after 1755 I was unable to find any allusion whatever to the place, settlement or church called by that name.

Jonathan Hager, a native of Germany, emigrated to America some time prior to 1739, for on December 16th, of that year, he

SHELF LIST

To my Kinsmen:

Every person who possesses any pride, will, after he passes the meridian of life, if not before, turn his thoughts more or less to the past. That past will embrace his ancestors. It will be gratifying to know something of them.

To supply that information, and at the same time to preserve such facts as might be had from documents in the family, and also such as may have come down as tradition in the family, is the object of this unpretending pamphlet. Beyond an examination, by myself, of the will records of the Getzendanners, and the records of the German or Evangelical Reform Church for the births and marriages of the Buckey family, by Miss Laura Getzendanner, reliance has been mostly on private family documents, bibles and on the memory of one or two of the oldest of the family.

For a large part of the information about the younger members of these families, I have relied on my own memory, which after a thirty years residence, more than two thousand miles distant, must be more or less imperfect. Consequently many facts I might be presumed to know will be overlooked, and often dates are approximate, and middle names forgotton or omited.

That this family record is not as correct and full as it might be, is admitted; but it represents as much labor and time as I could devote to the subject.

Such as it is.—I place before you.

W. H. Getzendanner

The Getzendanners.

"Servants of the Gods." "Fire worshipers."

The earliest settlements of what is now Frederick County, Maryland, were made by a few English people from the tide water country of the state and a number of Palatines from Germany, along with whom were some Swiss and a few French. Prior to 1725 there were no settlements in that portion of the state, and comparatively speaking but few until 1730, at which time the influx of Palatines from Germany and Germans from eastern Pennsylvania began to take place. The earliest German emigrants landed at Philadelphia, Penn., and moved across and along the fertle valleys westward and southwestward, and always located on the best land. They brought with them their ministers, their teachers, doctors etc.

These emigrants and their fathers had witnessed the relentless religious wars in Germany, and doubtless hoped to avoid persecution and oppression in the new country. They were mostly Lutherans and German Reformers, and soon had the country dotted over with churches and school houses. These German emigrants took up land in this new region of the world, and improved it, and their descendants of to-day virtually own, with the exception of a few poor districts, the whole county.

The Monocacy Valley, extending through this county, cannot be surpassed in beauty and fertility by any spot on God's green earth.

Up from the meadows, rich with corn,
Clear from the cool September morn,
The clustered spires of Frederick stand,
Green-walled by the hills of Maryland.

Round about them orchards sweep,
Apple and peach tree fruited deep;
Fair as a garden of the Lord.

WHITTIER'S BARBARA FRIETCHIE.

The Susquehanna tribe of Indians, prior to its settlement by the whites, occupied this region of the country. They were of the six nations of our colonial history, and were said by Capt. John Smith of Virginia, to be the finest specimens of manhood he ever beheld. They dwindled away in the civil wars of the tribes, and by the terrible scourge of small pox which prevailed among them. The miserable remnant was pushed back by the influx of the whites. Some few could not be induced to leave that Eden. One Chief, named Tom, lived and died on a creek which bears his name this day, and another in the same way gave his name to the Linganore. (Miller's Directory of Frederick County.)

It was in this Monocacy Valley our ancestor cast his lot, and where his descendants, for years, lived and many of them still live and flourish.

Family History.

Christian Getzendanner arrived in Philadelphia, Penn., in the ship "Allen", James Craige, Master, September 15th, 1729, in company with Joseph Brunner, his father-in-law, and fifty Palatines. (Rupps Collection of 30,000 Names, published at Harrisburg, Pa., 1856, page 16.)

He was born in Switzerland and left that Republic under pasport given in 1723. He left Germany for the American Colonies April 12th., 1729, in company with his father-in-law, Joseph Brunner, who came from the Government of Peltzer Schiverstadt, with sons and daughter as follows: Jacob, John, Elias, Henry and Catharine, wife of Christian Getzendanner. Christian G., and Catharine Barbara Brunner were married April 20th., 1723. (Getzendanner Family Memorandum.)

From Albaugh's memoranda of the Brunner family it appears that "Joseph Brunner came form Manheim, Germany, in 1729, and settled on Carrolls creek one mile northwest of where Frederick now stands. One of his daughters married Christian Getzendanner. A younger one married Remsburg."

Family Tradition.

Christian Getzendanner, the original founder of the family in Frederick County, Maryland, came over from Switzerland in the early part of the 18th., century and settled in the forests about two miles west of the spot where Frederick City now stands. The old homestead remained in the family until about 1875, the last owner in line being John D. Getzendanner, a direct lineal descendant, through eldest sons, of the original settler. Christian G., as was very comon in those days, bought of an Indian Chief some three thousand acres of land, extending from the foot of the mountain where Fairview now stands eastwardly towards the Monocacy River. Relying on this title he did not take steps to have the purchase confirmed by the Lord Proprietor, until one O'Neal located on the eastern part of the tract and procured a patent or grant to about one thousand acres of the land. This opened the eyes of Christian G., and he proceeded to make his title solid to as much of the tract as was possible. One of the grants, which I have seen, covers about 900 acres, was applied for in 1745 and and issued in 1752 under the name of "Christian's Choice." The original settlement was made on this tract. The house was built of logs, and stood on the farm till some twenty-five years ago, say 1865, when it was torn down. Around this cabin the original settler on many a night, with his gun on his shoulder, stood guard to ward off hostile and thieving indians. This is from statements of members of the family, principally of Thomas Getzendanner, brother of John D., hereinbefore mentioned, and great, great grand son of the original settler, and came to Thomas, for the most part, through Daniel Getzendanner, Sr., uncle of Thomas.

Both were mere boys at the time of the respective wars. One of the wild ones, as Captain commanded a vessel in the Lafitte fleet. He was a noted Chieftain in Lafitte's forays upon the ocean. The offence was completely wiped out by his gallant conduct at the battle of New Orleans, 1815. (See "Lafitte," a novel.)

The Buckey Family.

Two brothers of the name came over to the American Colonies from northern France and settled in what is now Frederik County, Maryland, in the year 1745. They were of Huguenot stock, and the name as above has been anglicised. It appears in the earlier Evangelical Reform Church Records, as Buquet, Bouquett, Bucke, Buckey and Bockey. It is known that several of these spellings were used by the older members of the family.

The name of one of these brothers was Mathias. He married Anna Maria (Mary) Hoffman, whose brother, Peter Hoffman, moved to Baltimore, and became the ancestor of the distinguished Baltimore family of that name. The father of Mary and Peter, came from Germany and settled on a farm in what is now Frederick County, Maryland.

After Grand-Mother Buckey's death, Uncle E. Buckey moved to Fredrick, taking Harriet along and lived with my mother, Mary E. Getzendanner. Both remained with her and both died at her house.

The Salmon Family.

Edward Salmon, the head of the Salmon family in Maryland, was born in England August 19, 1743. Being the younger son, he was given a place in the English army, with the law of primogeniture which gave the great landed estate to his eldest brother, he retired from the army on half pay and came over to the Colonies and located in Fredrick County, Maryland. During the Revolution he served as an officer of the line and participated in the battle of Brandywine etc. He adopted school teaching as a profession. Many of the prominent men of Frederick County where taught by him. He married a Miss Keller, of Mount Pleasant District. The issue of that marriage was:

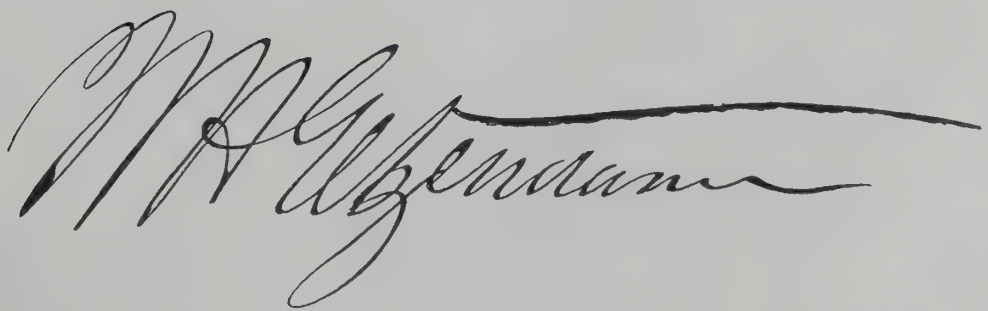
Ellis County History



elsewhere in this volume. He received his education at Marvin College, and also spent two years at the Kentucky Military Institute, from which he was graduated in 1881. After leaving school he entered the bank of Getzendaner & Ferris, as bookkeeper, and the following year he embarked in a hardware business, which he conducted for two years. Upon the organization of the Citizens' National Bank of Waxahachie, Mr. Ferris was selected as cashier of this institution. He closed out his hardware business, and entered upon his duties in the bank, which he has discharged with great ability. He is interested in the Ellis County Building Association, the Waxahachie Real Estate and Building Association, the Waxahachie Investment Company, the Waxahachie Street Railroad Company, the Waxahachie Electric Company, and is a director of the corporations, excepting the Ellis County Building Association.

Mr. Ferris was married in 1882, to Miss Sallie Thompson, of Maysville, Kentucky. They are the parents of two children: Floyd A. and J. W. Our subject is one of Waxahachie's rising young business men; honest, industrious, and energetic, he has every prospect of achieving the highest success.

W. H. GETZENDANER was born May 14, 1834, in Frederick county, Maryland. His father, Abram Getzendaner, was a farmer, as were his thrifty Swiss ancestors for several generations before him. The family settled in Maryland in 1729, when it was a wild and very sparsely settled country. His mother, Mary, was born in Frederick City, Maryland, in 1814, and was the daughter of Peter Buckey, a tanner and farmer. Her mother's maiden name was Mary Salmon, whose father was an officer in the Revolutionary army, though before the war began he was a retired officer of the British army.

W. H. Getzendaner was reared on the farm until he was nineteen, when he attended the Frederick Academy for two years. In 1855 he was sent to Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pennsylvania, to complete his education, and graduated in that institution with the degree of Bachelor of Arts, in 1858. During the senior year of his collegiate course, he pursued the study of law, which he more fully mastered in the office of W. J. Ross, in Frederick City. Thus prepared to enter upon the practice of his profession, he went to Huntsville, Texas, in the latter part of 1858, where he remained six months. In 1859 he removed to Waxahachie.

In the latter year he was admitted to the the bar at Tyler, and practiced in Waxahachie from 1859 to 1875, except during the civil war and two years following. The latter period he devoted to improving and cultivating his farm. His practice was remunerative from the beginning, and he acquired a high character as a lawyer and advocate.

In 1861 he recruited and organized Company E, Twelfth Texas Cavalry, for the Confederate army. In this company he was a Lieutenant, but after the fighting was over he was assigned to duty as Quartermaster of the regiment with the rank and pay of Captain. He was also for a time Adjutant-General of Parsons' Cavalry Brigade.

During the war he was in more than thirty engagements, and was wounded both at Cloutierville and Yellow Bayou. After the war, he turned his attention somewhat to agriculture, but in 1868 returned to Waxahachie.

In 1872, at the solicitation of his fellow-citizens, he accepted the office of Mayor of the city, organized the corporation, drafted the ordinances and set in motion the municipal machinery. After one year's service he retired, his health, from overwork, having partially failed.

July 1, 1868, the firm of Ferris & Getzendaner, composed of J. W. Ferris and W. H. Getzendaner, opened a private banking house in Waxahachie, continuing also their business as lawyers. This partnership continued for seven years. In 1875 W. H. Getzendaner withdrew from the law business, and Judge Ferris, from the banking business. R. A. Ferris, who had been in the bank for several years, succeeded his father, and the style of the firm was changed to that of Getzendaner & Ferris, and continued under that firm name till July 1, 1884, when it was merged into the Citizen's National Bank of Waxahachie. Captain Getzendaner was elected president, and served the bank in that capacity until January, 1887, when in accordance with a resolution long previously formed, he withdrew and retired from business.

The bank in 1868 was established on a capital of $6,000, but in the sixteen years of private banking so greatly had its operations increased, and its business flourished, the capital had grown to $200,000.

Captain Getzendaner had often been solicited to run for office, but always declined, until 1882, when he was announced as a candidate for the State Senate to represent the Twenty-first senatorial district, composed of Ellis, Johnson and Hill counties. His opponent was Dr. A. M. Douglas of Hill county, a very popular gentleman and skilled politician.

Both parties went into the convention called to nominate with nearly equal strength. The convention after many ballots and no changes, was declared locked, and the candidates given a free field before the people.

A long and hotly contested canvass of the district ensued. Captain Getzendaner took an advanced position on the subject of public schools, the leasing of the public school grazing lands, better public roads and bridges and taxation therefor, in addition to road service, and for the establishment of a lunatic asylum for North Texas. These positions were ably combated by his opponent. The canvass was the all absorbing topic prior to the election.

Captain Getzendaner came out with a majority of 450 votes. He received in his own (Waxahachie) precinct all but eighty-eight votes out of 1,012, and went out of his county with a majority of 1,900 out of 5,000 votes. This flattering vote was given notwithstanding Captain Getzendaner was a banker, which was a very heavy weight to carry in a popular election. He served as State Senator for four years, embracing the eighteenth and nineteenth Legislatures, and had the satisfaction of seeing every one of his measures enacted into laws, even though constitutional amendments were required to to be adopted by the people before that end could be attained. The annual addition to the school fund arising from the lease of its lands is said to be about $300,000, which amount otherwise would have been raised by the levy of taxes.

Captain Getzendaner, amidst his multifarious duties and heavy business, has always shown a lively interest in public affairs. He believes in a just, a good and a firm government, which will mete out equal and exact justice to all, and lay the mailed hand of the State upon criminals.

The motto cut in the semi-circular arch over the west door of the courthouse, Fiat Justitia Cœlum Ruat, was furnished by him twenty-two years ago, and is expressive of the character of the man.

He is eminently patriotic, as is shown in his conversations with and addresses before the people, and through his articles on politics and economics contributed to the columns of the Galveston News, and later to the Dallas Morning News, and also to the local papers of Waxahachie.

Many of the articles have received the encomiums of the press and the commendation of the people. As a writer he is strong and pointed rather than smooth and polished. His letters written and published while on his vacation evince fine descriptive power, and are always sought for and eagerly read.

In 1890 he was induced to accept as a friendly act the presidency of the Dallas & Waco Railroad, then in operation from Dallas to Waxahachie. At the annual meeting of directors he was reëlected and now holds the same position.

In addition to all these labors of an active life, Captain Getzendaner has opened up, improved and managed a large plantation with an adjunct of a large herd of cattle and stock of horses and mules.

He is a Master Mason, and a communicant of the Episcopal church. Up to the war he was an "old line" Whig, but since that time has voted and acted with the Democrats. He voted for the adoption of the ordinance of secession after his return from the expedition in Clay, Archer and Jack counties against the Comanches in 1860–61.

Captain Getzendaner was married in Ellis county, Texas, August 2, 1865, to Mrs. Willia Neel, widow of Hon. T. C. Neel, formerly State Senator, who died in 1862. She was born in Hancock county, Georgia August 29, 1832, is the daughter of John, B. Latimer, formerly a large planter and slaveholder. She is the granddaughter of Major Gonder of Georgia, and related by marriage to Judge Thomas, Hon. Linton Stevens and other distinguished families of the State. Her brother, Mark Latimer, is a prominent banker at Ennis, Texas.

By her first husband she has one daughter, Mattie, born in Hancock, Georgia, educated at Emmetsburg, Maryland, in St. Joseph's Academy, and married to Frank Templeton formerly editor of the Waxahachie Argus, and now a farmer in Ellis county. Captain and Mrs. Getzendaner have two children living: Willia, born November 8, 1872, in Ellis county, and Ralph, born in Waxahachie, October 18, 1875. Mrs. Getzendaner is a member of the Baptist church.

Partly as revealing a prominent characteristic of the man, and partly as a lesson to young men who may read this biography, it may be stated that when Captain Getzendaner arrived in Waxahachie he had but $5, and was $40 in debt. He at once went to work in no way disheartened by his impecunious condition, and by diligent study, application and economy, dealing fairly and honorably with all men and thereby gaining their confidence, he attained success in his profession and accumulated property.

He is probably the heaviest tax-payer in Ellis county, and has large landed interests in other parts of the State. In appearance, Captain Getzendaner is rather prepossessing, standing five feet eight inches in height, with blue eyes and prominent features, and weighing 155 pounds. In form he is broad, muscular and strong, the physical corresponding with the intellectual man. His manners are retiring, he is bold in action and in the expression of his opinion. He is a man who stands high in the estimation of the people, his energy, tact, capacity and success in business is acknowledged, and his strict integrity and rugged honesty fully recognized. His moral worth is unexcelled. He is social and companionable, but his principal characteristics are firmness, pride of opinion and financial ability. He is an independent thinker, and does not always follow a beaten track. He is grateful to those who have done him a favor, and is a liberal and charitable citizen.

MOSES S. RUTHERFORD, one of the substantial farmers of Ellis county, is a son of William B. Rutherford, who was born in Goochland county, Virginia, November 2, 1803. He removed to Smith county, Tennessee, in 1805, to Yell county, Arkansas, in 1850, and to Texas in 1862, locating on the farm now owned by Moses S. He was a Democrat in his political views, and for fifty-seven years was a member of the Methodist Church, of which he was also a steward for years. Our subject's mother, formerly Sarah Ann Woodmore, was born in Tennessee, July 29, 1809, a daughter of James W. and Jennie (Scott) Woodmore, natives of Buckingham county, Virginia. The mother was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and died in 1870. Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford were married in 1835, and were the parents of nine children,—Moses S., our subject; Jane, the widow of Robert Marshall; James W., a prosperous farmer and stock-raiser of Erath county; Archie, who was killed when eighteen months old; Maggie, deceased when young; Thomas, who died at the age of seven years; Samuel M., who died in 1870, at the age of twenty-two years; Martha S., the wife of John T. Robinson; and William B. The paternal grandfather, Archibald Rutherford, was born in

Rev. David C. Getzendanner

Salem, OR 97304

Dear Rev. Getzendanner,

Several years ago, while in the process of doing family research, I discovered that I have a Getzendanner line. I found that this ancestor was a Christian Getzendanner, whose wife's name was Charlotte. They came to Jefferson County, Mississippi in the early 1800's, seemingly from Tennessee. There they lived, reared a family and died. None of the other Getzendanner descendents, of this line, knew who Christian's parents were, his wife's maiden name, or even where he lived before Tennessee.

Several weeks ago, while looking in books on Frederick County, Maryland for one of my husband's lines, who should I find but the Getzendanners and Bruners. You can imagine my excitement. Then I discovered Donald Lewis Osborn's book on the Bruners and immediately ordered it. He gave me your name and also told me that you have a book about the Getzendanners. He also told me that you are out of the country and will not be back for a year or two.

I am writing this with the hope that you have someone taking care of your mail and perhaps also the sales of your book. I would like very much to obtain a copy of it as soon as possible. There is still about a two generation gap that needs to be filled to connect my Christian Getzendanner with Christian Getzendanner, the immigrant.

If someone is taking care of your mail, they may call me collect at 713/852-7564 or drop me a note telling me the price of your book.

Thank you in advance for your kind attention.

Sincerely,

Barnes, Robert. Maryland Marriages, 1778-1800. Genealogical Publishing Co., Inc. Baltimore, 1978.

GETZENDANNER FAMILY GENEALOGICAL NEWS
JANUARY 1990
Provided by: David C. Getzendanner

COMMENT: A Sabbatical Year of travel, and the adjustments of retiring, certainly have adversely affected my correspondence and genealogical efforts. My apologies to all of you. Hopefully, this mailing will reestablish my annual contact with you, and assure you of a prompt reply to any genealogical needs or sharing of information.

PLEASE HELP UPDATE MY INFORMATION/ADDRESSES

So many changes occur in two years...births, marriages, deaths! Some of these occasions I know about...many, I do not know about. Please help me by updating your family news/addresses/information. I will try to keep our U.S. (Christian) Getzendanner files correct for our more than 250 related families. (Note my newer Salem address as of June 1987).

SWISS ORIGINS OF CHRISTIAN GETZENDANNER DETERMINED!!!

We believe the mystery has been solved of where in Switzerland our Christian Getzendanner's family roots were! While in Switzerland in 1988, Swiss genealogists, Jakob Wickli-Steinegger, and Armin Muller, agreed that our Christian's father, Jacob, was born on the farm "Wald", near the city of Watwill, Canton of St. Gallen, Toggenburg Valley. They provided a detailed family line back to a Jorg Gyzendaner who was born c1570. It was exciting for Betty and me to visit that farm where our ancestor who left Switzerland was born. I will be happy to provide this information to everyone who is interested.

AUSTRALIAN GIEZENDANNERS - - AMSTERDAM GIESENDANNERS!!!

During our 1987-88 trip, Betty and I became aware of and met Giezendanner families in Australia. Then, while in Europe, we visited Amsterdam (Holland) Giesendanners with whom we had been corresponding for several years. (Wickli and Muller helped me discover the Swiss family lines for these families, too.!) One of my priority projects for 1990 is to complete a family history and family tree for our Australian Giezendanner families. (Please inform me when you meet Getzendanner families overseas, or U.S. families which are not listed in my family book or have not been in contact with me.)

NEW BOOKS CONTAINING GETZENDANNER REFERENCES AND HISTORY

Published: "Pioneers of Old Monocacy" by Tracey and Dern; (2) "Monacacy and Catoctin" edited by Schildknect; (3) "Kinfolk in Germany-Kinfolk in Maryland" by Arta F. Johnson.

MAY 1990 BE A GOOD YEAR FOR YOU! LET'S KEEP IN TOUCH!

(and delegation) of the Chinese Protestant Three-Self Patriotic Movement spoke. From Geneva, we took a train to Luzern where we were for a week, and met for the first time, the Max Giezendanners. Then a train took us to the Toggenburg Valley in St. Gallen Canton, the origination of our Swiss Getzendanner/Giezendanner families where we enjoyed a wonderful visit with Rosli Giezendanner and her children's families who have accepted us as their American family, staying with Karl and Heidi Giezendanner. While in Switzerland, we also had time to visit our two Swiss genealogist friends who have been so helpful to us through the years...the Jakob Wickli-Steineggers who live near Zurich, and the Armin Mullers of Litchensteig. Again, they were of great help to our family as they helped us locate the family roots of our Australian Giezendanners, the family roots of our Amsterdam Giesendanners, and most importantly for us, the family roots of our American Getzendanner families. While in Zurich, we were happy to see our AFS exchange student, Karin Stegmeier, who was in Oregon for a year.

From Zurich, we flew to London, planning to be with our friend, Peter Pexton, whom we had met on our camping trip in the Australian outback, and to see some stage shows, and to meet with our longtime friends Mollie Parkes, and Gwyneth Evans in Portsmouth where they were attending a convention. But our carefully made plans were suddenly changed by a phone call from Chicago. Our son, Joel, announced that we were grandparents, a week and a half early...Jessa Catharine and mother, Susan, were doing fine. Fortunately, we were able to catch a plane for Chicago the next day, and we were thus able to be in Chicago in time to welcome Susan and Jessa home from the hospital. We stayed in Chicago for 18 days, helping (?) Susan with the new baby, with 3 year old Shelley, working in the garden and yard so Joel could get back to work as one of the Directors of the Joyce Foundation of Chicago. His area of responsibility is in Economic Development. We arrived back in Salem towards the end of June, about 8 1/2 months away from home. For further details of our trip, do come and visit us. It was a fabulous, once in a lifetime experience.

As 1989 begins, we are looking forward to opportunities to entertain and be with friends, to visit our daughter and her husband, Annette and Dave Janka, and our granddaughter, Holly, in Valdez, Alaska. Annette is Director of the Children's Theater in Valdez, and Dave is in charge of a Wilderness Camp by Columbia Glacier in Prince William Sound. We would enjoy a visit from you, whenever you get a chance.

May 1989 be a very good year for you and yours,

Dave and Betty G

Died in Neustadt, Germany, Nov. 18, 1784. (Anna Otilia's death record notes six (6) children were born to Christian and her. We have names of only Christian, his sister, Cathrina Elizabetha, and his brother, Gabriel from documents).

@We believe the mystery has been solved as to where in Switzerland our Christian Getzendanner's roots were. Jacob Wickli and Armin Muller, the two best Swiss genealogists for the Toggenburg Valley, the valley where our family originated, have agreed that from their records and knowledge, our Christian's father, Jacob, was born on the farm "Wald", near the city of Wattwil, Canton of St. Gallen, in the upper Toggenburg Valley. They provided the following detailed family line back to a Jorg Gyzendanner who was born c1570. (Genealogically, we still need one final document to "prove" their thesis). It was exciting for Dave and Betty Getzendanner in 1988 to visit that farm where our ancestor was born, and from which he left Switzerland.

GETZENDANNER FAMILY GENEALOGICAL NEWS JANUARY 1991
Provided by: David C. Getzendanner

COMMENT: This Annual Newsletter is my way of providing an opportunity to the descendants of Christian Getzendanner of Frederick, Maryland to secure information about their genealogical past and present, and to assist family members in research needs on their specific family lines.

Thank you for your many letters and contacts this past year, and for providing information on marriages, births, and deaths which help keep our family files correct. It is an effort to keep our U.S.A. (Christian) Getzendanner files updated for more than 300 related families.

A VISIT IN 1991? My wife, Betty, and I are hoping to visit many of my correspondents this next year. Plans are being made to leave Oregon in September/October with our new travel trailer and visit family and friends in the Mid-West, South, and East Coast during the Fall and Winter months. Our tentative plans include Texas.

MISSISSIPPI GETZENDANNERS: Finally, after 30 years of family research, we have been able, this year, to document that Christian Getzendanner of Jefferson Co., Mississippi, (1810) was related to our Maryland family. Still to be documented is his father's name and birthplace in Maryland. So our family tree grows a new branch.

U.S.A. GIEZENTANNERS NOW HAVE SWISS ORIGINS DOCUMENTED: This year, our good friend, genealogist Jakob Wickli Steinegger, Kilchberg, Switzerland, was able to provide documentation on the Swiss family line (to 1567) of the U.S.A. Giezentanners, (arrived in U.S.A. in 1848). The Giezentanners and Getzendanners have a common ancestry in Switzerland at about 1500 A.D. This information is available to anyone interested.

A FAMILY TREE FOR AUSTRALIAN GIEZENDANNERS is presently being corrected and added to in Brisbane, Australia and will be part of their history which I'm helping to prepare for publication.

A FEW GETZENDANNER COAT-OF-ARMS, 8" by 10", suitable for framing, (similar to the Coat-of-Arms on the dustcover of the book "Getzendanner Familie Giezendanner") are still available for $6 each including postage.

MAY 1991 BE A GOOD YEAR FOR YOU! LET'S KEEP IN TOUCH!

January 1991

Dear Melanie,

What pleasure it has been for us to hear from so many of our family and friends during the past holiday season. For the third year we have lightened the "busyness" of Christmas by waiting to write this Epiphany (January) letter. It brings you our best wishes for a blessed year of 1991.

"Anticipation" is the key word for us in 1991. Having bought a travel trailer, we anticipate (in the fall of 1991 and winter of 1992) traveling throughout the South, East and Mid-west of the U.S.A. visiting family and friends. Dave is looking forward to personally meeting many genealogical family and friends with whom he has been corresponding for many years. Hopefully health, the gas situation and world conditions will allow us to travel and bring to reality a long held dream.

During this past year of 1990 we enjoyed one of the good things about our retirement .... time to be with friends ... friends of many years as well as friends from our recent trip around the world.

Among our international visitors were: Phyllis Lewis from Sydney, Australia; Max and Dora Giezendanner from Luzern, Switzerland; Cliff and Jan Henderson from Molokai, Hawaii; Pastor Blair and Lorna Rodgers from Invercargill, New Zealand; Richard and Heidi Martin from Luzern, Switzerland; Treeny and Anthony Giezendanner from Brisbane, Australia; Valma Storey from Sydney, Australia; Alma Giezendanner from Brisbane, Australia; Pastor Fred and Ruth Zinck, from Calgary, Alberta, Canada; and Pastor Brian and June Whitlock from Brisbane, Australia.

We were pleased, too, to be able to host long time friends: Bishop Bob Wilch of Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Alice Witt of Davenport, Iowa; Margaret Yates of The Dalles, Oregon; Milt and Evelyn Getzendaner of Yuma, Arizona; and four couples with whom we have served in the Lutheran Church for 40 years, Pastor John and Rene Baglien of Milwaukie, Oregon; Pastor Paul and Rachel Baughman of Spokane, Washington; Pastor Forrest and Selvieg Clark of Astoria, Oregon and Pastor Warren and Odeline Pechman of Portland, Oregon for a special get-together.

Extended family members from N. Carolina, Boston, Mass., Spokane, Vancouver, and Seattle, Washington and Lake Oswego and Bend, Oregon, joined us at the farm for both happy and sad occasions. We were all saddened on June 28th when Dave's older brother, Mark, of Seattle, Washington, died after an illness of several years. Since burial was in Salem, family and friends gathered at the family farm after the service to share their grief.

A happy and very special occasion at the farm in November was Dave's mother, Catharine "Kitty" Getzendaner's, 95th Birthday. She shared her celebration this year with her 2 year old great-grandson, Alex Marthill, from Spokane, WA., whose birthday is one day before hers. Kitty continues spry, alert and active, but asked to join us in sending love and greetings to you, since sending Christmas cards and letters has become too much of an effort for her.

Kitty was able to join us for much of the Christmas/New Year festivities sparked by the 2 week visit of our son, Joel, and his wife, Susan from Chicago. Their daughters, 5½ year old, Shelby, and 2½ year old, Jessa, brought much joyful activity to the farm.

Joyful activity within the church also brought us pleasure this year. We conducted World Mission Festivals at Trinity Lutheran Church in Everett, Washington, and at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Salem. Dave was guest preacher at the 40th Anniversary celebration of Emmanuel Lutheran Church, Williamina, Oregon, where he began his ministry and also at the 40th Anniversary celebration of Faith Lutheran Church, Salem, where he concluded his ministry. We have also preached at area churches when needed, but singing together regularly in Good Shepherd's choir is a new and fun experience of retirement.

One of the highlights of 1990 was our 2 week Tour Group trip to Germany where we visited historic sites of Martin Luther. The tour began in West Berlin, moved in to East Germany (East Berlin, Wittenberg, Leipzig, Halle, Eisleben, Erfurt) for several days, progressed in to West Germany (Koblenz, Worms, Augsburg, Rothenburg, Munich), stayed several days in Salzburg, Austria, before concluding the tour at the Oberammergau Passion Play in Bavaria. Seriously, the tour was intensive, but, fortunately, it was also fascinating and inspirational. Following our tour we visited with our son, Martin, and family in Geneva, Switzerland, as we used up our limited 3 week plane ticket.

As you can see, we love to be busy and to have company. Let's keep in touch and do come to see us whenever you can.

Love and may 1991 be a very good year for you and yours,

Dave and Betty (Getzendanner)
5340 Wallace Rd. NW. Salem, OR. 97304

P.S. Your trip to Oregon and Eugene sounds great. We would love to see you and personally get reacquainted. When you know your flights and itinerary, let us know. You are most welcome to stay overnight with us. Eugene is about 70 miles, 1½ hrs by freeway from Salem. Where we live it's another 1½ hrs by car or bus to Portland Airport. Because of poor bus/train connections between Salem & Eugene you probably would want to stay in Eugene during your conference and visiting with us either before or after your Eugene commitment.

From Western Maryland Newspaper Abstracts, 1806-1810, Vol. 3 by F. Edward White: Oct 12 1808 - Christian Getzandanner, Rockville, intending to remove to the Mississippi Territory, offers a farm for sale where he lives, 2 1/2 miles from Rockville, 420 1/4 a.

Notes

goods - 6 slaves, 3 featherbeds, 2 dining tables with chairs, and 1 mild cow to John Getzendanner of Frederick County.

1820 Jefferson County, MS Census: C. Gitzendinner - 2 males under 10; 1 male 26 to 45; 2 females under 10 and 1 female 26 to 45.

1830 Jefferson County, MS Census: Chris Getizandivant - 1 male under 10, 2 males 40 to 60; 5 females under 10; 2 females 10 to 20.

Only Getzendanner (by whatever spelling) on either census.

Jefferson County, MS Deed, 13 Sept 1831; purchase of house and lot by Christian Getzandanner from Lewis Reno in city of Fayette in the County of Jefferson. To be paid in two installments, one on first day of Jan 1832 and the other on the first day of Jan 1833.

W.P.A. Jefferson County MS History: Shankstown settled ca 1810 by John Shanks, name changed to Louisville in 1824, property now (1937) owned by Ernest T. Breithaupt, Lorman. Became extinct between 1832-40, located on Shakstown Creek. Town made up of Getesendeller's Tavern, his wife's millinery shop, livery stable, and blacksmith between Port Gibson and Greenville on Natchez Trace where Choctaw Trail intersected. Christian Gitzendanner made bullwhips.

No date; Jefferson County record: Christian Getzendanner one of citizens who recommended A.B. Tillman as a suitable person to operate a house of entertainment at his house in Shankstown.

The mystery still exists of whether the Christian Getzendanner who lived in Montgomery County, MD and declared his intention to move to the Mississippi Territory in 1809, and who sold his land in 1809 in Montgomery County, MD is the same Christian Getzendanner living in Jefferson County, MS and counted on the 1820 census in 1820.

No record has been found that gives the name of the wife of Christian Getzendanner of Jefferson County, MS. Mark Hynum's copy of George Washington McMurchy's Bible record has an entry that Charlotte Getzendanner died 4 June 1851. It is assumed by some that this is the same C. Getzendanner who is found on the 1850 Jefferson County, MS Census; age 70, born Maryland. There is a 19 year old female named M. Getzendanner living with her who could be Maria who married Aaron Going. No primary records have been found.

The children listed for Christian Getzendanner fit the time period and Christian is the only Getzendanner in Jefferson County on the 1820 and 1830 censuses who could be their father. If the 1830 census is correct, the number of children is correct for the listing below because it shows 1 male and 7 females. It is interesting to note that there are two older males but no older female in the household. Perhaps the census taker made a mistake or else there was no wife at that time.

Dear Melanie,

How wonderful to talk with you today. Imagine finding another kinfolk there right under your very nose.

I promised to send you some of the information that I have...some may be new and others not.

In THE SOUTHERN REVEILLE, Port Gibson, MS. (Sept 15, 1883) obituary

"Mr. Jefferson E. Scott, for many years a citizen of our county died on Friday night of last week at his home in Jefferson County, aged 66 years.

Mr Scott was a native of Kentucky but had spent his life in this and the adjoining county.

He was an honest, industrious citizen - and a sober, and useful man. He leaves an aged wife and several children to mourn the loss of an affectionate husband and father. Mr Scott was buried with Masconic honors by Washington Lodge No. 3 of this place."

Don't you just love those old obituaries....having absolutely no information as to who was his wife and children.

Jefferson E. Scott was born in 1817. and died 7 Sep 1883.

His first marriage was to Harriet Ervin (b. 1827). Harriet was the sister of Nancy Ervin who married James Henry Harrell in 1854. Harriet, whose father had died in 1848, lived in Jefferson County in the Red Lick Area with her widowed mother (a native of Ohio) and sister, Nancy, and brothers James and William. Harriet was the oldest of the children.

Jefferson E. Scott and Harriet married in Jefferson County on 20 May 1846 (Bk B, pag 211) They had two children:

Emily	b 1847
Louisa	b 1855

Emily's first marriage was to Lott Harrell. He married at around the age of 20 on 31 Jan 1867. Emily lived in the area with her father, a native of Kentucky, and Stepmother, Ellen McMurchy. Emily's deceased mother was the elder sister of Nancy Ervin who had married Lott's eldest brother and guardian James Henry Harrel. She died when Emily was young, not yet ten. Lott and Emily settled in southeastern Claiborne County. Per the 1880 census neither of them were able to read or write. In 1889 they owned 80 acres (E/2 SW/4 Sec 18, T10 R4E) Lott died on Jun 10 1891 in his early 50's of Yellow fever. Emily died two years later on Mar 19, 1893 at the home of her son, Lott, Jr. Emily, upon hearing of the death of her son's wife Nima's mother, had decided to go to seeher daughter-in-law. When she arrived she was not feeling well and Nima put her to bed. She died that night from Yellow Fever. (This is taken from THE HARRELLS. It is a very well documented book that looks at many of the families in this area. You could obtain a copy from Betty Harrell, 621 Harrington Avenue, Los Altos, CA 94022)

In 1857 Harriet's mother gave Nancy 175 acres in Claiborne County near the Jefferson County Line. Later that year in a complicated deed Nancy and her husband, J.H.Harrell and James Ervin and Jefferson E. Scott sold the land and other tracts to James J. Persons of New Orleans.

IF there were any other children of J. E. and Harriet Scott who survived, I do not know. Louisa married William B.(Bill) Andrews on 13 Sep 1876 in Jefferson County. Louisa and Bill Andrews' son, William Hutcherson (Babe) Andrews married Stella May Kelley on Aug 15, 1909. This line is being researched by BOBBIE EDWARDS, 3108 Highland Drive, Vicksburg, MS 39180.

Jefferson E. Scott married Ellen McMurchy on 21 Dec 1857 in Claiborne County (Bk6 pg 460) She was the daughter of Alexander McMurchy and Emily Getzendanner.

Their children were:

Sarah	b 1858 d ?
Thomas	b 1862/was paralized and bed-ridden in 1880. d ?
Franklin Russell	b 1864 m 26 Feb 1891 to Martha Ann Orr Gervish (Jefferson Co, Bk I, pg 36 d ?
Emma	b 1866 m 12 Oct 1935 to John C. Johnson (Jefferson Co. BK I, pg 77) d.
Mary Ellen (Marie)	c. 1870 m. 18 Nov 1897 to Lorenzo Hagen (Jefferson Co Bk K Pg 229) d. ?
Rosena	b. 21 Nov 1875 m. 1 Dec 1886 to George Johnson (Jefferson Co, Bk K-pg185) d. 29 Jan 1952 in Vicksburg, Ms.
Margaret (Maggie)	b. 11 May 1877 m. ? to _____Emfinger) d. 22 Aug 1960 in Vicksburg
George Washington	b. 15 Sep 1879 m. 20 Feb 1896 to Lula Irene Johnson (Jefferson Co. Bk K pg 152 d. 15 Jun 1944 in Vicksburg, Ms.

Note that in the Jefferson E. Scott family the intermarriages with the Johnsons.

John C. Johnson was the father of Lula Irene and George.

John C. Johnson married three times:
1st to Melissa Phillips
2nd to Matilda Dunigan
3rd to Emma Scott

I had been told (but you know how rumors are) but have not been able to verify as of this date that Jefferson E. Scott had adopted a black child in 1850. This seems like a far fetched idea to me.

On George Washington Scott's death certificate, Rosena gave the information that J. E. Scott was born in North Dakota. Now that is interesting because ND wasn't even a state until mut later. I have attempted to trace that rumor but with no results.

John Clem Johnson's grandfather (by the same name) was a pioneer Methodist minister that figured quite promiently in the Methodist history of this area. He was born in Pa in 1782...moved to Ky when he was 4 with his mother, Rachael. after his father died. He came into this area in 1805 or so....died of typhoid fever in 1853.

My husband comes down through the Lula Irene and George W. Scott line. Their daughter, Lela Mae married Rupert R. Brown which is Jimmie's folks.

Now the Orr - Gervish line is interesting. In the Trevillion Cemetery there are several graves, some marked and some unmarked. This cemetery has been taken care of very well in fact that it is located in the woods and off the beaten path.

Some of the markers that you may be interested in are:

* John Orr, born 19 Jul 1820, died 16 Oct 1891..confederate soldier

* Martha A., wife of John Orr, b. 3 Nov 1825 d. 5 Aug 1888
This grave had a 'cover' over it. It was like a small open shed. "they" said that Mr. Orr couldn't stand the thought of water getting on his loved one.

Ellen Elizabeth Orr Thomae b. 3 Apr 1857 d. 2 Jun 1889

Melissa L. Phillips, wife of J.C. Johnson
b. 26 Jun 1859 d. 4 Jul 1883

John C. Johnson b. 15 Oct 1849 d. 30 Jan 1931

John Thomas Trevillion b 13 Apr 1858 d. 28 Dec 1935

Fransonia Abigal Trevillion b. 11 Nov 1857 d. 7 Jun 1936
wife of John T. Trevillion

J. Posey Orr is buried in this cemetery.

There are three unmarked Gervish graves:
Infant of Bertha Gervish

C. F. Gervish, husband of Martha Ann Orr
Earlie Gervish, son of _____Gervish
I wonder if the Earlie was somehow named after Jefferson Early Scott?

CALVIN PHILLIPS 2435 Highwood Drive, Dallas, Texas has done quite a bit of research on the Phillips- Orr-Trevillion-Phillips families of this area

Melanie, I have that a T. States Trevillion was married to Nellie Nevils on 23 Nov 1807 in Jefferson Co., Eleanor 1818
Elizabeth Wright on 24 Aug 1821 in Jefferson Co.
Margaret Martin on 26 Apt 1826 in Jefferson County
Martha A. Herlong on 17 Dec 1833 In Claiborne County

Mrs. Martha Travillion married Miles Lilley on 10 Jan 1846
In the 1830 Jefferson County Census, it show States Trevillion as having 1 male under 5, one male 10-15, 3 males 15-20 and one male in the 50-60 category. Only 2 females in the 10-15 age group shows

I haven't done much research on that line...or at least any of any depth.

I am anxious to know more about the family of Frank and Martha Scott.

I look forward to sharing information with you...

Ann

Dear Mr. Hynum:

The McMurchy family record enclosed answers your questions about my Mother's family, and I hope the information on the statement enclosed will be helpful to you in tracing the family history.

I do not know the lady in Brookhaven who is tracing the Foster family you referred to but it is my opinion that she is Mrs. Monroe Foster. The one I have reference to was raised in the Little Bahala neighborhood. I do not know her maiden name but she married a cousin of mine (Monroe Foster) who died several years ago. They had several children that are scattered over the general neighborhood surrounding Brookhaven.
Several years ago she wrote news items of the Little Bahala neighborhood for The Wesson Enterprise, and a few during late years. The last I heard of her she was living in Brookhaven with some of her children.
If she is the one you may be able to contact her by addressing her as Mrs. Monroe Foster.

If you have an extra copy of the Bible records you referred to I'll sure appreciate one.

Sincerely yours,

V. H. Foster

Dear Mr. Hynum;

I did not find the form you mentioned in your last letter, but I made a list of the Foster family of which I am a part beginning with my Father and through 1972 and including the birth of a great grand daughter born August 11, 1972.
I did not try to list my grand daughter in Florida because there are some dates involved that I do not have, but you can write my Son and he can complete the record. I do not have any nephews or nieces.

Yours

W. H. Foster

GENEALOGY

BRUNER FAMILY.

"REMOVE NOT THE ANCIENT LAND MARK, WHICH THY FATHER'S HAVE SET." PROVERBS 22:28.

68B 1956

This History of the BRUNER FAMILY has been compiled from knowledge handed down from generation to generation and from Records of Court and Bible for the first three Generations. I have copied from Bible and Court Records from the Fourth Generation on for the rest of the family history.

The BRUNER form of the name was established early times in Germany, Prussia, Bohemia, Austria, Bavaria, & Switzerland. It has been handed down in the family that this line was of considerable prominence wealth and nobility in the above countries. The name was vonBRUNER and the family dropped the von when they came to America.

Traits that have been known to be recurrent in this family are:practical business ability, resourcefulness,strong religious convictions, and keen intelligence. The traits have particularly distinguished their activities in the field of religion, education, and science. In our family history many BRUNERs are school teachers,ministers, authors, editors, and college professors. Some of the BRUNERs who have made names for themselves are:JOHN HAMILTON BRUNER---LAWRENCE BRUNER---ARNOLD WILLIAM BRUNER---DAVID B. BRUNER --- HENRY LANE BRUNER---JAMES BRUNER---JOHN BRUNER---WILLIAM EVANS BRUNER---WESTON BRUNER---EDMUND BRUNER---and FELIX FRANCIS BRUNER. The first mentioned, JOHN HAMILTON BRUNER, clergyman and college president, a grandson of our Revolutionary War ancestor, JACOB BRUNER,SR.

The story that has been handed down in the family is: that in 1728 JOSEPH vonBRUNER, a German Protestant, of Schifferstadt,Germany bedissatisfied with the conditions existing in Germany and sent his oldest son, JACOB vonBRUNER, with his family to America. JACOB von BRUNER, his wife, BARBARA, and their two children,PETER and GEORGE MICHAEL, sailed for America on the ship "Mortonhouse". It arrived in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on August 23, 1728. JACOB's name is on the old passenger list. It is also recorded that JACOB took the Oath of Allegiance to the King of England on August 24, 1728. The change from German to English resulted in several ways of spelling BRUNER such as:BRUNNER, BRONER, BONNER, PRUNDER, BREUNER, & BROWNER. They dropped the von. BRUNER AND BRUNNER are the most used today.

The family story continued that: JOSEPH BRUNER brought his other children: JOHN, HENRY, CATHERINE ELIZABETH, ANNA BARBARA, her husband, CHRISTIAN GETZENDANNER, and ELIAS, JOSEPH's youngest son, to America in 1729. Records are found that give the ship "Allen" arrived at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on September 11, 1729 and listed passeng ers were JOSEPH BRUNER, JOHN BRUNER, HENRY BRUNER AND CHRISTIAN GETZENDANNER. There were 67 women and 56 children not named aboard.

The story handed down is that JOSEPH's wife died in Germany when ELIAS was born and that ELIAS was one of the unnamed children on that ship. JOSEPH BRUNER and his sons: HENRY and JOHN, were Naturalized on September 15, 1729. JACOB STURM(STORM) and his family also arriv ed with the BRUNERS. Later PETER BRUNER, son of JACOB BRUNER, and MARIA ANNA STURM(STORM), daughter of JACOB STURM, were married at Fr ederick County, Maryland. On May 3, 1740 the "Oath of Allegiance to Maryland" was taken by: JOSEPH BRUNER and son, ELIAS; JACOB BRUNER and children, PETER, MICHAEL, JOHN, JACOB, MARY, AND ELIZABETH; JOHN BRUNER and children, JOHN, JACOB, CATHERINE, BARBARA, AND MARY; and HENRY BRUNER and son, JOHN.

In 1743 JOSEPH BRUNER received deed to property. In 1746 he received deed to more land and called this farm "Schifferstadt" in memory of his home land in Germany. JACOB, JOHN AND HENRY BRUNER bought land in Maryland also. JOSEPH BRUNER's son, ELIAS, who was under age in 1740 was deeded land by his father in 1753. In 1742, CHRISTIAN GETZENDANNER and wife, ANNA BARBARA BRUNER-GETZENDANNER, JOSEPH's daughter, purchased land and named it "CHRISTIAN's Choice". JOSEPH's other daughter, CATHERINE ELIZABETH BRUNER-RAMSBERGER and her husband, STEPHEN RAMSBERGER, also purchased land. They called it "Mortality". In 1755, JACOB BRUNER deeded parts of his land to his sons: MICHAEL and PETER, who were under age in 1740 when the Oath of Allegiance to Maryland was taken by the BRUNER family. This BRUNER family settled in Maryland and Virginia at first. Later some of them moved to Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, and Illinois.

Another family of BRUNERs are told about in the Colonial Records 111 and page 427 is recorded that on the "Snow Lowther", a ship from Rotterdam, came JEREMIA BRUNNER, MICHAEL BRUNNER, and HENRICH BRUNNER. They settled at Oley, Berke County, Pennsylvania. On November 23,1747, HENRY BRUNNER purchased land in the then Northampton County, later Lehigh County, Pennsylvania. A descendant, ANDREW BRUNNER, was enrolled as a soldier in the Revolution in July 1776 and his brother, REINHART, also. It was recorded that ANDREW BRUNNER had the following children: HENRY, JACOB ANDREW, JOHN, MRS. MOHR, MRS. SMITH, MRS. RUTH, MRS. HECKMAN, MRS. ROTHROCK, AND MRS. APPLE. Some of this family moved to Omaha, Nebraska.

At the beginning of the Seven Years War in Germany in 1756 another BRUNER family, RUDOLPH BRUNER and his wife, MARGARET, and ULRICK BRUNER and his wife, EVE MARY, left Germany and they settled in Orangeburg Township in Berkly County, South Carolina. Rev. John Giessendanner, Jr. and his wife, Barbara, kept the records of marriages and births and deaths here. ULRICK BRUNER,JR. was the first of these BRUNERs born in South Carolina on December 17, 1756. These BRUNERs came from Germany and spelled their name with one n, however, we donot know if they are related to our branch of the BRUNERs.

"INDIANA AND PURDUE FOOTBALL TROPHY"

Lafayette, Indiana, November 22, 1958, headlines "How old is the old Oaken Bucket?" Well, as near as we can figure, it celebrated its---"118th Birthday" this year, 1958. Around the year 1840 a family by the name of BRUNER settled in southern Indiana area between Kent and Hanover in a region known as Greenbrier. Legend has it that during the Civil War, the BRUNER farm was a favorite camping place for Morgan"s Raiders, a Southern Cavalry outfit that took great delight in foraging far to the north and General Morgan had many a cool sip of water out of the bucket, known as "Morgan's Drinking Cup". This is the very bucket that Indiana University and Purdue play foot ball to win. If the old general was still around he'd probably think he was back in the Civil War. Things tend to get explosive in the Bucket-Games.

It was in 1925 that Wiley J. Huddle, J. Frank Lindsey, and Dr. Clarence Jones of Indiana along with Russell Gray of Purdue decided this football series, started in 1891, should have a symbol. An old oaken bucket was chosen as being typically Hoosier and the search was on. It was found hanging on the well on the BRUNER farm. When discovered it was coated with green mold and some of the staves showed evidence of decay. Expert repair work on the seasoned wood erased the ravages of time and were sturdy enough to make the old oaken bucket withstand the excitement of 33 rock-em'sock'em football games. The team winning gets to keep the bucket and put on a Symbolic letter. To date there are more gold P's than there are I's. Purdue leads the series 21-10. There are two ties. It was a proud moment when representatives presented the bucket on the first time in 1925. Dame Fortune must have decided this moment shouldn't be scarred for either side so the game ended in a 0-0 tie.

Through all the years "The Old Oaken Bucket" has been a symbol between the two schools of football supremacy. It has been stolen and recovered by both sides. It always managed to show up at game time. If it could talk it could probably tell some harrowing tales that would rival the raids of General Morgan. Today the old BRUNER farm has been plowed under and as 43,000 fans scream for victory, a wind swept tree stands as a silent lonely virgil over the well in which once upon a time hung "The Old Oaken Bucket".

There has been much controversy over the first three generations that came to America of the BRUNER family. Here I give what has been handed down to me about the first three generations. However, from generation four on all data has been substantiated by Court Records and Bible Records. The following pages give the BRUNERs down thru thirteen generations. It gives all of each generation at one time. Each person is numbered to enable one to follow their own line.

(All information about his descendants have been taken from his and their family Bibles, as he was my Revolutionary War ancestor.) JACOB BRUNER enlisted in November 1779 at Frederick County,Maryland. He served as a Minute-Man and Private. He served in 1780 & in the Spring of 1781. He served until General Cornwallis' surrender. He married MARGARET CLINE(KLEIN)(B.February 28, 1764 at Frederick County, Maryland and D.May 15, 1849 at Greene County, Tennessee) on May 29, 1784 at Frederick County, Maryland. Shortly after they were married they moved to Millerstown, now Woodstock, Shanandoah County, Virginia. There he established himself as a hat manufacturer and taught English and German. Later in 1804 they moved to Greene County, Tennessee. It was at Jonesboro, Greene County, Tennessee he received a Pension # W332 issued on February 20, 1833. JACOB BRUNER died on August 10, 1847, age 84 years, 3 months, and 28 days. He was buried near the Northwest corner of his farm. This farm is still in his descendants' posession today.

OBITUARY OF JACOB BRUNER (47).

JACOB BRUNER, a soldier of the American Revolution, died at his residence in the North part of Greene County, Tennessee, on the tenth day of August 1847, in the 85th year of his age.(he started his 85th year May 29th) He was born at Fredericktown, Maryland in 1763. During the memorable struggle for American Independence, he was twice called into the service of his country; and after serving out times for which he was called, while doubts were entertained as to the eventful preponderance. Under such dobious circumstances,JACOB BRUNER became a volunteer again and rushed to the drooping standard of his outraged country; and a third time he joined her armies. He was never, however, in any noted battle. The fortunes of the war called him away from the main army to quash the Troy insurrections in the Jerseys to guard prisoners of war. When the war was over and his country free, he was united in marriage to MISS MARGARET CLINE, about the 22nd year of his age. Sometime afterwards he established himself as a hat manufacturer in Millerstown(now Woodstock) Shanandoah Co unty, Virginia. Here, as also subsequently in Tennessee, he was employed as a teacher of both English and German students in the same school. About the year 1797 (fifty years ago) he embraced the religion of the meek and lowly Jesus; and united with a sect called "The United Brethren", "Dutch Methodist", or "Oterbiners" from their leader, the celebrated Mr. Oterbine. But on removing to Tennessee, in 1804 he was thrown beyond the territorial boundary of his church, into a Methodist community and soon he became a member of the Methodist Episcopal church. He became a member of a little class in his neighborhood; and when it pleased the authorities of the church to merge this little class into one on the border of another neighborhood, he did not remove his name, but said to his son, in allusion to his infirmities, "It is not worth while to join that class, as I cannot attend." He remained, however, a faithful christian; and never omitted family devotions if it was possible for him to attend to them. Before his bodily infirmities prevented, he was often tent holder for Camp meetings, where some of his children were happily and powerfully converted to God. Among those converted was his son, JOHN, who lived faithfully till called into the service for his country in the War of 1812, when he left his friends and the home of his youth, singing a transporting hymn; but he left to return no more; his remains reposed in a rough grave at Lookout Mountain where he fell. The remaining eleven of the twelve children of JACOB BRUNER, yet lives and though scattered abroad, they will unite with their widowed mother, in lamenting the death of old Jacob--for he has not lived in vain as most of his children and many of his grandchildren are members of a church and several of them officers there as leaders, exhorters and preachers in Tennessee and other states. He had long seemed unusally dead to this world. His treasures being in Heaven, his conversation was generally on religious subjects. He had long lived in the expectation of death, but feared it not--with him to live was Christ and to die was gain. The day before his death he was taken with a great weakness, but complained of no pain. To the companion of his early life, the angel of mercy in his afflictions, he said, "Mother, (for this was the term he usually applied to his aged consort) I reckon you will soon lose your old man; you must try to be faithful to meet me again." At another time he said, "Mother, my heart is fixed Glory to God." He talked but little during his last illness, but he would occasionally sing verses of his favorite hymns. Among others, he sang the following with much pasthos and devotion "Let others stretch their arms like seas, and gasp in all the shore. Grant me the visits of Thy face, and I desire no more." He sang, "Come, my Jesus from above and feed my soul with heavenly love." "That is all that I want," he added. While laying calmly, he said, "My Savior and my God, glory to Thy name." Soon after this, his powers of speech failed him almost entirely; and within a few hours, he breathed his last without a struggle or a groan. Thus, my Grandfather "fell asleep". by JOHN HAMILTON BRUNER (176)

OBITUARY OF MARGARET BRUNER.

MARGARET BRUNER, reliet of JACOB BRUNER, bade adieu to this vale of sorrow at her resident in Greene County, Tennessee, on the fifteenth of May 1849. She was born in Fredericktown, Maryland on February 28 1764 and was united in marriage with JACOB BRUNER on May 29,1784 and some time afterwards removed to Virginia and settled in Shanandoah County. In 1804 she removed with her husband and family to Tennessee and settled in Greene County. In 1807 she became a member of the M. E. church and soon afterwards professed religion. She remained a member in the church until death ended her earthly pilgrimage, a period of 45 years. Nor were these years of gloom and darkness for her. They were years of comfort---of pure religious enjoyment. Her's was the "ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price". She endeavored to "adorn the doctrines of God our Savior in all things". Hardly ever did she fail to obtain a blessing when attending the worship of God. She delighted much in Gods house and in the company of His children. She had a large family of nine sons and three daughters. These she took pains to train in the way they should go. They were the subjects of her prayers, of her most tender and deep concern. Great anxiety did she feel for their eternal well being. Nor were her pious efforts in vain. She lived to see the most of her children converted to God, in the church and on their way to heaven. She was confined to her bed but few days during which time she suffered but little pain. One of her sons visited her frequently before her death and conversed freely with her on the subject. She told him she was ready and waiting to go and at times seemed almost impatient to be gone. Whenever the subject was mentioned she would clap her hands and shout aloud for joy. She died without a struggle or groan closing her own eyes, and no one looking on perhaps could have told but what she had fallen into sleep. May all her children meet her in heaven.

JACOB AND MARGARET BRUNER had twelve children and eleven of them are listed in his will. One son, JOHN, died in the War of 1812. JOSEPH one of JACOB's sons, was executor of his father's will and JACOBs grandson, JOHN HAMILTON BRUNER, wrote JACOB's Obituary. Their twelve children were: ANN MARIA, ELISABETH, JOHN JACOB, MARGARET, JOHN,HENRY, ELIAS, JOSEPH, SAMUEL, GEORGE, DANIEL, AND OTHNIEL BRUNER, born in Virginia and Greene County, Tennessee.

Bruner

Printed December 21, 1974

The BRUNER form of the name was established in early times in Germany, Prussia, Bohemia, Austria, Bavaria and Switzerland. It has been handed down in the family that this line was of considerable prominence, wealth and nobility in the above countries. The name was vonBRUNER and the family dropped the von when they came to America.

Traits that have been known to be recurrent in this family are: practical business ability, resourcefulness, strong religious convictions, and keen intelligence. The traits have particularly distinguished their activities in the field of religion, education, and science. In our family history many BRUNERS were school teachers, ministers, authors, editors, and college professors.

The story that has been handed down in the family is: that in 1728 JOSEPH vonBRUNER, a German Protestant, of Schifferstadt, Germany was dissatisfied with the conditions existing in Germany and sent his oldest son, JACOB vonBRUNER with his family, to America. JACOB vonBRUNER, his wife, BARBARA, and their two children, PETER and GEORGE MICHAEL, sailed for America on the ship "MORTON-HOUSE." It arrived in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on August 23, 1728 JACOB's name is on the old passenger list. It is also recorded that JACOB took the Oath of Allegiance to the King of England on August 24, 1728. The family story continued that: JOSEPH BRUNER brought his other children: JOHN, HENRY, CATHERINE ELIZABETH, ANNA BARBARA, her husband, CHRISTIAN GETZENDANNER, and ELIAS, Joseph's youngest son, to America in 1729. Records are found that give the ship "ALLEN" arriving at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on September 11, 1729 and listed passengers were JOSEPH BRUNER, JOHN BRUNER, HENRY BRUNER, AND CHRISTIAN GETZENDANNER. There were 67 women and 56 children not named aboard.

The story handed down is that JOSEPH's wife died in Germany when ELIAS was born and that ELIAS was one of the unnamed children on that ship. JOSEPH BRUNER and his sons: HENRY and JOHN, were Naturalized on September 15, 1729. JACOB STURM (STORM) and his family also arrived with the BRUNERS. Later PETER BRUNER, son of JACOB BRUNER, and MARIA ANNA STURM (STORM), daughter of JACOB STURM, were married at Frederick County, Maryland. On May 3, 1740 the "Oath of Allegiance to Maryland" was taken by: JOSEPH BRUNER and son, ELIAS; JACOB BRUNER and children, PETER, MICHAEL, JOHN, JACOB, MARY, and ELIZABETH; JOHN BRUNER and children, JOHN, JACOB, CATHERINE, BARBARA, and MARY; and HENRY BRUNER and son, JOHN.

In 1743 JOSEPH BRUNER received deed to property. In 1746 he received deed to more land and called this farm "Schifferstadt" in memory of his home land in Germany. JACOP JOHN, and HENRY BRUNER bought land in Maryland also. JOSEPH BRUNER's son, ELIAS, who was under age in 1740 was deeded land by his father in 1753. In 1742, CHRISTIAN GETZENDANNER and wife, ANNA BARBARA BRUNER-GETZENDANNER, Joseph's daughter, purchased land and named it "CHRISTIAN's Choice." JOSEPH's other daughter, CATHERINE ELIZABETH BRUNER-RAMSBERGER and her husband, STEPHEN RAMSBERGER, also purchased land. They called it "Mortality." In 1755, JACOB BRUNER deeded parts of his land to his sons: MICHAEL and PETER, who were under age in 1740 when the Oath of Allegiance to Maryland was taken by the BRUNER family. This BRUNER family settled in Maryland and Virginia at first. Later some of them moved to Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, and Illinois.

BRUNER HISTORY

Bruner - Davis - Van Meter - Du Bois - (French Huguenots) lines, back to Charlemagne 742 - 814 A. D. (40 generations)

Bruner lines, back to emigrants, from Germany

Joseph VonBruner of Schifferstadt, near Speyer, Germany was born 1862, Married Catherine Elizabeth Thomas. Both were member of the German Reformed Church and were dissatisfied with conditions existing in Germany. He sent his oldest son, Johann Jacob, his wife Barbara and their two children, Peter and George, to America to investigate conditions. They sailed on the ship "Mortonhouse" and arrived in Philadelphia on August 23, 1728 and it is recorded that he took the oath of allegiance to the King of England on August 24, 1728.

Joseph VonBruner brought his other children, John, Henry, Catherine Elizabeth, Anna Barbara, her husband, Christian Getzendanner, and Elias, his youngest son, to America in 1729. Records are found that give the ship "Allen" arriving at Philadelphia on September 11, 1729 and listed among the passengers were Joseph Bruner, John Bruner, Henry Bruner, and Christian Getzendanner. There were 67 women and 56 children not named aboard.

The story handed down is that Joseph's wife died in Germany when Elias was born, or shortly thereafter, and that Elias was one of the unnamed children on that ship.

Joseph Bruner and sons Henry and John were naturalized on September 15, 1729. Jacob Sturm (Storm) and his family also arrived with the Bruners. Later Peter Bruner, Son of Jacob Bruner, and Maria Ann Sturm (Storm) were married at Frederick County, Maryland.

On May 3, 1740 the "Oath of Allegiance to Maryland" was taken by Joseph Bruner and son Elias: Jacob Bruner and children, Peter, Michael, John, Jacob, Mary and Elizabeth: John Bruner and children, John, Jacob, Catherine, Barbara, and Mary and Henry Bruner and son, John:

The "Von" was dropped from the Bruner names when they left Germany for America.

KENTUCKY

European research reveals that the branch of the Bruner family with which we are presently concerned probably originated in Switzerland, in Shifferstadt, a District of the Rhine Palatinate. They were there at the beginning of the eighteenth century, and it is believed that they crossed the Rhine from the Baden District in Germany, looking for good farm land. Political and economic reasons encouraged them to leave the Rhine valley and seek freedom from military service in the New World.

Joseph Bruner, the patriarch of the family, sent his older son to America to investigate the William Penn colony, to determine whether or not the stories of freedom in Pennsylvania were true. A year later, Joseph sold his personal and real estate, and with his family sailed in the "Allen" from one of the English Channel ports on July 7, 1729, arriving in Philadelphia on September 11, 1729.

A considerable number of German immigrants came in this ship, and it therefore not possible to state positively the names of all in Joseph's family.

On September 15, 1729, the adult males took the oath of allegiance, including Joseph, Henry, and John, members of this branch as shown in family records. Strassburger-Hinke: Pennsylvania German Pioneers, vol. 1, p.29, Lexington Public Library; H.L. Bruner: Our Bruner Ancestors in America; Notes: Mrs.M.R.Hagan.

The immigrant ancestor, Joseph Bruner, was born ca 1682 in Germany, and died ca 1753 in Maryland. He married ca 1702 in Germany Catherine Elizabeth Thomas who died in 1723 in childbirth. (Bible record.) They belonged to the Dutch Reformed Church.

Issue of Joseph Bruner and his wife Catherine (all born in Germany):

1. Johan Jacob Bruner, b. Feb.5, 1703, will dated Feb.16, 1765, married Marie Barbara Sturm, dau. of Jacob Sturm. Jacob Bruner came to Philadelphia a full year before the Joseph Bruner family party, arriving in the "Mortenhouse" on Aug.23, 1728. The following day he and other immigrants took an oath of allegiance to the English king, a formality each colony required. It is believed that Jacob married in Germany, but it is impossible to prove that he brought his wife and children with him, as the ship list mentions 67 women and 56 children, unnamed. Jacob and his father Joseph died probably in Maryland.
   Issue of Jacob Bruner and Marie (Sturm):
   (1) Johan Peter Bruner, b.Aug.30, 1724 in the Palatinate, Germany, d. in Washington Co., Md., m. Maria Anna Sturm in America.
   (2) George Michael Bruner, of whom later.

   (7) George Bruner.
2. John Bruner, b.1707, will dated 1776 in Frederick Co., Md., m. Anna Marie _____.

4. Elias Bruner, will dated 1783 in Frederick Co., m. Albertina _____.
5. Anna Barbara Bruner, b. 1709, m. April 17,1723 in Germany Christian Getzendanner.
6. Catherina Elizabeth Bruner, b.1712, m. Stephen Ramsburger in Frederick Co., Maryland.

GEORGE MICHAEL BRUNER, known as Michael Bruner, son of Johan Jacob Bruner and Maria Barbara Sturm, born in Maryland probably ca 1730. The county records show that several families moved from the coastal farm lands and crossed the mountains to the fertile Ohio River valley. County records in Maryland, Pennsylvania, northern Virginia and Kentucky provide a fairly reliable itinerary of Michael, Leonard, George and Peter Bruner from their homes in Maryland to their farms in Breckinridge Co., Ky.

Michael married Anna Barbara (Peckinbaugh?) ca 1752. There were close family ties with the Peckinbaughs. Michael bought land from Simeon Rice in Frederick Co., Virginia on April 6, 1758. (D.Bk.4, p.411, Winchester, Virginia.) He died after 1814, when his last deed was recorded in Breckinridge Co., Kentucky.

7. Catherine Bruner, b.1770 in Va., m.June 16, 1792 Samuel Spencer. (Jefferson Co. Records.)

GEORGE PETER BRUNER (known as George), son of George Michael and Anna Bruner, was born June 13,1758 in Frederick Co., died before 1820, married Feb.12, 1782 at Cocalico, Maryland Anna Maria Achebach. It is not known why the parents gave the same two names (George) to two sons; this complicates the work of the researcher.

Issue of George Peter and Anna Bruner:

1. Elizabeth Bruner, d. ca 1820 in Indiana, m. April 4, 1796 Samuel Stuckey (Jefferson Co. Marriage Records). She is referred to as Betsey in D.Bk.C, p.300, Breckinridge Co.

MILLER:

The Millers who emigrated from Scotland belonged to Clan McFarlane, one of about fifty septs who comprised a considerable number of people living on the western side of Loch Lomond. These Millers formerly used the name MacFarlane and descended from the Earl of Lennox, whose grandson was named Farlane. In 1608 a neighboring clan, the Colquhouns, feuding with the McFarlanes, managed to have the latter outlawed; many McFarlanes adopted new names for protection, and thus arose the family or sept of Miller, on Lake Lomond.

Some time ago, Mr.George Sherwood, a genealogist working in London, discovered a will drawn by Richard Bennett, Esq., a native of Maryland colony, dated 1749. In this will, Richard Bennett named not only his legatees, but also all those persons who owed him a debt, and all to whom he was indebted, over three hundred names altogether, and all presumably living in Maryland, except a few in England. Among those named was "James Miller, of Queen Anne County, son of John, deceased, my overseer". (Will registered in London, file #P.P.C. 253 Greenly.) It has not been established that James Miller of the will is the same James Miller who lived in Caroline County, Virginia. during the latter half of the eighteenth century. Further research is needed.

James Miller (1734-1808) married Elizabeth Roy in Caroline County, Virginia. She was the granddaughter of Henry Beverly, a rich landowner; his daughter Judith Beverly married (1) the Rev.Rodham Kenner Jr.,

Rector of Drysdale Parish. The wedding took place shortly after Caroline County was organized. Judith married (2) Thomas Roy, said to have been of French descent. Hotten's Lists of Immigrants, p.123, shows one Hugh Le Roy in Virginia as early as 1635. From the records it seems that James Miller's wife Elizabeth Roy was the daughter of Thomas Roy.

James Miller was in the tobacco shipping business. Throughout his life he was loyal to England. He was a fervent Mason, founder of the Kilwinning-Crosse Lodge No.22 in Port Royal in 1754. (Wingfield: History of Caroline County, Va. pp.87 seq.) Besides being a successful merchant, James was vestryman in St.Mary's Parish in 1763. (T.E.Campbell: History of Caroline County, pp.391, 433.)
